Funeral Home Given Approval By Zoning Board

By GORDON GRIFFITHS
(Mercury Staff Writer)

A request to build a funeral home at North Charlotte and Grace streets was approved by the borough zoning board of adjustment Tuesday night.

Along with the approval of this request by Herbert F. and Thelma H. Houck, the board approved four other requests for special exceptions and variances, and held two cases for further study.

The Mared Realty company, of Youngstown, Ohio, was given permission to build a J. C. Penney company store at High and North Charlotte streets, and Edward and Elizabeth Bill, Gilbertsville RD 1, will be allowed to make two apartments out of a home at 1401 High street.

The cases held for study involve requests to establish light manufacturing firms in residential neighborhoods.

THE HOUCK case attracted the most interest, and the request by James S. and Adolph C. Wilke to sell their furniture store at 818-824 Queen street to a children's dress maker was the most time consuming.

The entire hearing took nearly four hours and brought more than 50 persons to the borough council chambers, plus nine borough councilmen and a raft of legal talent.

The objection to Houck's request was made by individuals owning homes near the site proposed for the construction of the $75,000 to $80,000 Colonial style red brick mortuary.

Speaking against Houck's appeal was Michael Matlock, 956 North Charlotte street, Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Feit, 275 Grace street, George Brandt, 947 Spruce street, and Mrs. Agnes C. Mancer, who intends to move shortly to 933 Spruce street.

Feit said he spoke in behalf of the following: Harold Sloan, 941 Spruce street; Clarence Barthlow, 955 Spruce street; C. Russel Shively, 268 Grace street; and Robert W. Miller, 975 Spruce street.

Houck's attorney, Joseph L. Prince, outlined the history of the land in question —178 feet frontage on North Charlotte street and 300 feet depth along Grace street to Spruce street.

The owners of the property,

Here she reads to Janet Yocom (sitting on lap) and Margaret and Douglas Yocom. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yocom, of 95 West Fifth street. Local Mother, 92, Recalls Trips by Horse and Buggy

(Editor's Note: This is the second of a series on Pottstown's oldest mothers.)

Mrs. Rosa Keck never had to use the rod on her children, even though she firmly believes that too many parents today "spare the rod and spoil the child."

"But I was never afraid to use this," she chuckled, holding her right hand up, still firm despite her 92 years.

She reminisced about her family, the trips by horse and buggy to New Hanover, the old scrubbing board, and the growth of Pottstown, as she rocked back and forth in the living room of her home at 17 West Third street.

SHE EXPLAINED that "it's harder now to raise a family because there are so many temptations. It seems as if all the parents today are having trouble with their children."

Mrs. Keck raised six children, "and they were all good children."

Her first child, Allan, died when he was 17. The other five are still alive. Her husband, David, butcher, whom she married when she was 21, died in 1927.

The five children have nine children of their own and nine grandchildren. Mrs. Keck admits that she has hopes of being a great-great-grandmother.

Norco Sewer Bids 'Surprisingly' Low; Total $736,696

Borough Officials Aghast At Norco Sewer Estimate

Pottstown borough officials frowned in wonder Tuesday at the North Coventry Sewer Authority's $560,000 figure for tying in Norco's proposed sewer service to the Pottstown plant.

"It's beyond me where they got the figures," was the statement made by both the borough manager and the chairman of the Borough authority.

"Apparently they have decided they want to stay on their own side of the river, and would rather have their own system," said William H. McCabe, the authority chairman.

A. Erwin Colver, chairman of the Norco group, in a letter to Pottstown, said any thought of joining Pottstown's system was "not economically feasible."

McCABE SAID there is no ill feeling because North Coventry has written off Pottstown's system.

"But we are certainly curious about how they got those costs . . . we certainly didn't give them the costs."

Robert H. McKinney Jr., borough manager, agreed that his office had never even hinted at any cost, mainly because it would take an engineering survey to determine how much North Coventry should pay.

North Coventry quoted $85,000 to cross the river. McKinney assumes this price includes a pumping station. McCabe figures this estimate was made by North Coventry most likely will build its own sewers as a result of surprisingly low bids Tuesday night.

The combination of lowest bids is about 30 percent cheaper than estimates one year ago.

The figure also is $100,000 less than calculations earlier this week. The total is $736,696.28.

Construction bids were for a sewage system that will use nearly eight miles of pipe, several pumping houses and a treatment plant.

STUDIES IN 1959 set building costs at $1,016,000. That scared off township leaders, so they and Mast Engineering company of Reading chopped expenses.

'WE'LL TALK' SEWER SETUP, SAYS OFFICIAL

Claims Lower Pottsgrove Failed to Ask Meeting

John Hoffecker, chairman of the borough highway-sewer committee, said his group stands ready at any time to discuss sewer problems with Lower Pottsgrove township.

Hoffecker replied to a statement made Monday by Lower Pottsgrove solicitor Harold Binder that he had been unable to arrange a meeting with the borough to discuss water and sewer facilities at the borough line.

No one's talked to me about a meeting," said Hoffecker, "but we're ready all the time to help them however we can.

"I agree it's about time we sit down and talk over these agreements we have with them," he added.

ROBERT H. McKinney Jr., borough manager, said he had not heard a thing from Lower Pottsgrove or Binder.

Hoffecker said Lower Pottsgrove's problem concerns developments on the borough line in the township are served by water and sewer by means of a verbal agreement.

At the time the arrangement

FISHERMEN NETTED IN CLAMPDOWN

South Coventry Chief Tagged 18 Cars

"The police chief was hired to do his duty, and he did it."

That was the opinion of Henry T. Shumate, Harmonyville, head of the South Coventry Road board regarding parking violations charges filed against 18 fishermen by South Coventry chief Robert F. Conway.

Representatives of area sportsmen's clubs appeared before the board at its Monday night meeting to "seek an understanding" with the board regarding parking along highways in the township.

Conway tagged 18 cars parked along four highways near French creek during the first day of trout season, April 16. The policeman said many of the cars protruded well onto the highway.

ROBERT I. MATTHEWS Sr., Coventryville road, president of the Northern Chester county Sportsmen's association, sought means to avoid fining of fishermen in the future.

He said this was the first time anglers' cars had been tagged while parked along the highway near the creek.

Conway said Tuesday he acted partly on complaints received from motorists in the area concerned. The police officer said he had asked fishermen to move the cars in

SUSPENSIONS ORDERED FOR AREA DRIVERS

Two Were Involved In Accident Death

Thirty day suspension of drivers' licenses was ordered for two men involved in an auto crash which killed a Boyertown area teen-ager.

Jeremiah Reitnauer, Monocacy Station, and William H. Coldren, Reading, were charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of Linwood Schaeffer Jr., 16, Boyertown RD.

The fatality occurred during what appeared to be a car race through Boyertown streets last October. Reitnauer fled the scene of Boyertown's first auto death in two decades, but was nabbed in Pottstown.

Reitnauer and Coldren were indicted by the Berks county grand jury last December and both await trial.

ELEVEN OTHER motorists in the Pottstown area lost their drivers' licenses because of auto violations.

Suspensions starting the last week of April were for Patsy R. Varney, 384 North Charlotte

CATHOLICS SCHEDULE MAY SERVICES

First Holy Communion, Procession Is Planned

Children will play a major part in two services at the St. Aloysius Roman Catholic church this weekend.

On Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, 148 youngsters of the St. Aloysius Parochial school will receive their first Holy Communion from the Rev. William M. Begley.

On Sunday afternoon the children of the school will form in a procession from the school building at Third and Hanover streets to the adjoining church in the traditional May Day observance.

Dolores Bolognese, Eighth grade pupil of the school and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael W. Bolognese, 382 New street, will place a crown of flowers on the statue of the Virgin Mary in the church.

THE CEREMONY honoring the Virgin Mother is held annually in May which is traditionally "the month of Mary."

Attending Miss Bolognese throughout the service will be four other girls of the school:

De Haven to Keep Post Despite Plea for Removal

Irvin R. DeHaven said he will not resign as police chief of Douglass (Berks) township Monday, and charged that the woman who has twice presented a petition to the township supervisors for his removal "has been picking on me for years."

He told The Mercury that he had no idea why the woman, Mrs. Anna Eachus, of Boyertown RD 2, took the position she did, and denied that his residency outside the township hindered him in carrying out his duties.

DeHaven lives at 1256 Cherry street.

The petition presented by Mrs. Eachus Monday contained approximately 100 names of township residents. The supervisors refused to accept it because approximately 20 of the names were signed "Mr. and Mrs.," rather than as individuals.

The supervisors also refused to accept the first petition, presented by Mrs. Eachus in March.

Mrs. Eachus said she was at a loss to understand why that petition was turned down.

Committee Will Send Questionnaire to Coaches

The Activities committee of the Pottstown school board met in special session Tuesday night to consider a request for a $9400 salary schedule proposed by the athletic staffs of Pottstown Junior and Senior High schools.

Carl Hofheinz, chairman, said he is in favor of raises for some members of the athletic staff, but added that "the board should be able to determine who merits a raise and who doesn't."

Other members of the board indicated agreement, but the matter was not voted upon.

William Yohn, who voted to accept the coaches' proposal a week ago, was not present.

HOFHEINZ IS in the process of making up a questionnaire to be sent to all coaches asking for detailed descriptions of their extra-curricular duties. He said it will be mailed Friday.

Because answers to the questionnaires are not expected by the time the school board meets Monday night to hold a preliminary hearing on next year's budget, the Activities committee will offer only tentative recommendations at that time.

Further recommendations concerning the coaches' request will be made at the June board meeting.

Hofheinz and the other board members denied that they or any other group of school authorities have ever put undue pressure on the coaching staff to have winning seasons.

The meeting was held in the school administration building, Beech and Penn streets.

SUNNY DAY IS ON AGENDA

Showers Are Seen Possible Late Tomorrow

Spring reigned supreme Tuesday, delighting young and old with any excuse at all to get outside and enjoy sunshine, low humidity, mild breezes and temperatures in the upper 60s.

And the ones who couldn't get outside had Spring fever. That is what normalcy did to Pottstown Tuesday.

So if you have a day off . . . or even a few hours free . . . today, make the best of it. It will remain mostly sunny today, with a high between 70 and 75.

There is no chance of showers until late tomorrow, at the earliest, although some cloudi-

Class of 1910 Plans Reunion

The Pottstown High school graduating class of 1910 was a daring one. After months of pleading with their parents, they gained permission to make the High school's first Spring trip to Washington.

Once they had gained permission, there was the problem of raising funds for the three-day trip. They put on a class play which was a big enough success to pay 60 percent of the costs. The other 40 percent they raised themselves or wheedled out of their parents.

Many of the members of that class will gather at the

UNITED FUND HEARS BIDS FOR INCREASES

Three Agencies Ask More Money for 1961

Increases in United Fund allotments ranging from 10 percent to 120 percent were requested by three agencies at budget hearings Tuesday, Ralph H. Spare, Jr., executive director of the United Fund of Pottstown and vicinity, reported.

The largest increase was requested by the Arthritis and Rheumatism foudation. It requested $2583 for 1961, an increase of 120 percent over the 1960 allocation of $1140.

The second largest increase was requested by the United Cerebral Palsy association of Philadelphia and Vicinity. Its 1961 request was $3245, an increase of 37 percent over the 1960 allocation of $2375.

The smallest increase—only 10 percent—was requested by the Red Cross. It's request of $35,620, however, was the largest of any agency. The 1960 allocation was $32,300.

Defense Alert Is a Fizzle In Pottstown

Nearly one million Pennsylvanians were theoretically killed or injured Tuesday in a mock nuclear attack—and the Conelrad warning system that was designed to broadcast emergency instructions to the public was "zero effective" in Pottstown.

The estimate of the Conelrad test was made by Frank W. Heilman Jr., borough director of civil defense.

In the mock attack, Philadelphia was hit with a two megaton nuclear bomb at 4:35 p. m. Nearly 400,000 were killed and 563,000 were injured. Fifty minutes later Harrisburg was hit, and in a second wave of enemy bombers, Reading was hit shortly after 11 p. m.

Pottstown was spared from direct attack in Operation Alert 1960, and with the ineffective Conelrad warning and the spotty

SEWER WORK EXPECTED TO START SOON

Upper Montgomery Authority Will Meet

The Upper Montgomery sewer authority will meet at 2 p. m. today to make final arrangements with contractors for the start of the long-delayed $2½ million sewage system for Red Hill, Pennsburg and East Greenville.

Construction is expected to start within a week, Clarence Keelor, president of the authority, told The Mercury Tuesday night, in spite of new legal action which is expected to be filed this week.

Victor J. Roberts, attorney for 12 taxpayers fighting the sewage system, announced Monday that he will ask the State Supreme court to reconsider last week's decision in which attempts to halt the sewage project were dismissed.

If this fails, Roberts reported, he will take the case to the United States Supreme court. Roberts claims that his "clients were deprived of the due pro-

Flagg Firm Employes Work Lighter Schedule

A general "hold back" in industry has cut the work week for hundreds of men at Stanley G. Flagg and company.

Most of the 1400 employes in the Stowe plant are working alternate three and four days a week.

George A. Cockefair, plant manager, said his firm is trying to balance its inventories. He said he "remains optimistic about the long run prospects for employment at Flaggs."

Another official noted that some men are working a full week.

He also noted that a usual Winter drop in production failed to materialize, but apparently is besetting the plant in Spring. Cut backs in production began about three weeks ago.

Berlin Applauds Dietrich

BERLIN (AP) —Marlene Dietrich returned to the Berlin stage Tuesday night after 31 years' absence and scored a triumph.

She took two encores and 11 curtain calls.

Mayor Willy Brandt stood up and led the applause when she concluded with a favorite local song: "I Still Have a Trunk in Berlin."

Marlene

Before the performance, two placards appeared outside the theater with the legend "Marlene go home," in German and English. They were obviously done by the same hand.

One of the men carrying them said they were "front-line veterans."

Marlene did not see the signs.

As the audience emerged from the Titania Palast Theater, about 20 young men were chanting in chorus: "Marlene, raus aus Deutschland (Marlene, get out of Germany).

Police appeared only in the normal strength seen at big theatrical occasions.

Admirers in the crowd of about 300 yelled, "Marlene, Marlene."

Police detained but quickly released two anti-Marlene demonstrators.

The 1,800-seat theater was about three-quarters full. Many forward seats—which were priced at the equivalent of $23.80—had been given away. And the famous legs remained hidden.

The glamorous grandma appeared first in a tight-fitting, low-cut evening gown—full length and spangled. Over it she had a huge white fur wrap that trailed four feet behind.

She started with the favorite "Falling in Love Again" from "The Blue Angel."

At first the applause was little more than polite, but it warmed up. She did 18 songs, most in German. Enthusiasm grew with each one.

Then she changed to a man's white-tie-and-tails and opera hat. For the curtain calls, she threw the hat away and shook her hair down.

When the chorus came out kicking, Marlene kicked along, and just a bit higher than the others.

"I'm very satisfied with my reception," Marlene told reporters, her arms full of red roses. "And I'm very glad Mayor Brandt was there."

Bette Davis Sues Actor Husband For Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Bette Davis has sued actor Gary Merrill for divorce in Portland, Maine, the Herald-Express said Tuesday.

The action was filed last Thursday, the newspaper account said.

In Portland, a court official said no divorce had been filed there. He said if Miss Davis is suing in Portland, procedure would be for her complaint to be served on Merrill and the papers returned in 10 days.

"This report probably got around because some California deputy served Merrill," the official said.

The couple married in Juarez, Mexico, July 29, 1950. They have three children, Barbara, 12, Margot, 8, and Michael, 7.

BETTE DAVIS

They have had several previous spats, but always have reconciled.

Miss Davis reportedly is in seclusion at nearby Laguna Beach. Merrill is working in a movie and had no comment.

Miss Davis previously was married to bandleader Harmon Nelson Jr., airline pilot Arthur Farnsw9rth and artist William Grant Sherry.

Merrill formerly was married to actress Barbara Leeds.

The Herald-Express said the complaint, filed by Portland attorney Sidney W. Wenick, charged extreme cruelty. This same charge was made in a separate maintenance complaint Miss Davis filed in nearby Santa Monica in 1957. She later withdrew it.

The two recently toured the country with a stage presentation, "An Evening With Carl Sandburg."

Miss Davis, 52, twice an Oscar winner, has long been one of Hollywood's brightest talents. After years of top stardom, she turned to the stage to keep busy.

"They just aren't doing my kind of role any more," she told an interviewer recently.

Merrill, 47, has been active in both films and television.

The two lived in New England, saying they preferred it to Hollywood as a place to raise children.

Daughter Barbara is by Miss Davis' marriage to Sherry. Margot and Michael were adopted.

Separation Planned

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Joan Fontaine and TV producer Collier Young are separating, a spokesman for Young said. The couple plan a legal separation but no divorce, he said.

"There's no one else involved," he said. Both have gone their separate ways for sometime although living under the same roof, he said.

JOAN FONTAINE

Miss Fontaine is in Europe. She is expected to return Friday and start legal proceedings. Miss Fontaine, 42, and Young, 51, were married Nov. 12, 1952. They have a daughter and Miss Fontaine also has a daughter by a previous marriage.

She formerly was married to actor Brian Aherne and TV executive William Dozier. Young formerly was married to actress-director Ida Lupino.

Great-Grandmother, 72, Named American Mother of Year

NEW YORK (AP)—A 72-year-old Californian, who salvaged her retarded youngest son without neglecting five other children, Tuesday was named American Mother of 1960. She is Emerald Arbogast of Los Angeles.

Her selection was announced by the American Mothers Committee Inc., which brought her here for a testimonial luncheon Friday.

Talking with reporters, the trim grandmother of 10 and great-grandmother of four said of child rearing: "Home environment is important, and freedom under supervision."

Mrs. Arbogast gave her husband, Glen, credit for much of her success as a mother. An electronics firm official, he once was named Man of the Year by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Mrs. Arbogast told a news conference she doesn't smoke but does indulge in a glass of sherry—once a year before Thanksgiving dinner. As for form-fitting slacks and sweaters on women, she said: "I just turn my head. I think they lose some feminine appeal when they dress that way."

When her youngest son was born 35 years ago, Mrs. Arbogast was told by doctors that he was a "mongoloid who would never be anything but a burden."

"I would not give up," she recalled, "and I used everything I could—I used the trial and error method."

Today, the son plays the piano types, rides horseback, travels alone and is self-supporting.

Mrs. Arbogast's program of guidance and training attracted the attention of teachers, psychologists and doctors and led her to found the York Boulevard School for Retarded Boys in Los Angeles. She also established the Exceptional Children's Foundation in Los Angeles.

Elks Get Report

Over 3200 youngsters of Pottstown and vicinity were afforded recreation by the Pottstown lodge of the BPO Elks during the past year, according to a report of the youth activity committee at the lodge meeting Monday night.

The Elks supported a Biddy Basketball League team, an entry in the Knee-Hi Baseball league and sponsored monthly teen-aged record hops at the club during the Winter.

Forty-three members attended the meeting.

During the meeting Exalted Ruler Klink appointed a Flag Day committee to play a program highlighted by the presentation of a new American flag to the borough for use atop borough hall. The ceremony will be at the Elks home on June 20.

SUNNY DAY

ness may develop tomorrow afternoon, with increasing humidity.

BUT UNTIL that time, it will remain pleasant, with a low this morning and tomorrow morning of 45 to 50.

The center of high pressure bringing Pottstown this fine weather is centered off the New Jersey coast.

There are several centers of low pressure spread over the west, and storms are brewing there, but it is too early to tell which one will come this way . . . or when.

The high Tuesday was 70 after an early morning low of 43, making the average for the day 57 degrees, which is one degree below normal.

The all time record extremes for today seem well out of reach. A 90 was hit in 1913, and it hasn't been that warm since on any May 4th. The low of 35 was set just three years ago, and there is very little chance that record will be touched, either.

COMFORT AHEAD—These maps, based on those released by the U.S. Weather Bureau, show Pottstown will be blessed with comfortable, below normal Spring temperatures and an average amount of rain in the next 30 days. The top map shows agreeable precipitation outlook, with Pottstown lying in a band of "near normal" rainfall. A total of .34 of an inch of rain falling here Sunday is about average for three May days.

The lower map shows the entire eastern half of the nation will be experiencing "below" normal temperatures during the month. April temperatures were 5.8 degrees above normal and March temperatures were 8.4 below normal. These variances from normal are extreme, however.

Weatherman Talks At Kiwanis Meeting

Sixty-five members of the Kiwanis club heard Matthew I. Peacock, meteorologist of the Reading weather bureau, speak on "Pottstown and the Weather" Tuesday night at the Elks club.

Peacock stated that individuals as well as businesses in the community make extensive use of information provided by the weather bureau.

He pointed out that the bureau is particularly valuable in this area for flood control.

Township Officials Call Roads 'Fair'

The Washington township supervisors inspected the township roads Saturday, and reported at the supervisor's meeting Tuesday night that they were in fair condition.

The supervisors also reported receipt of approximately $3000 in 1960 taxes and payment of $1000 in bills. They met in the Barto Volunteer Fire company house.

Optimists Select Meeting Delegates

Three members of the Lower Pottsgrove Optimist club will attend a district convention in Atlantic City, N.J.

At the May 20-22 session will be Clarence Kohler, Edward Stein and Richard L. Phillips.

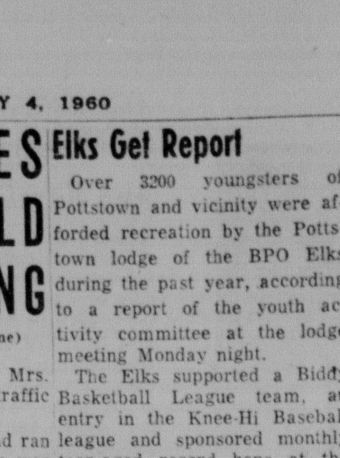

The club prepared for the convention by meeting Tuesday night in the Blossom restaurant, North Charlotte street. Phillips, president elect, was in charge.

Other members recently elected were John Jerman, first vice president; Delbert Smith, second vice president; Kohler, secretary; James Meloy, treasurer; Albert T. Cline, Frank Biezup and Peter Iltis, directors.

Hire Pottstown Police!

WEST Pottsgrove is having police trouble. The township commissioners asked the lone policeman, James Guadagno, to resign. Failing to get his resignation, they fired him.

Now the commissioners say they'll seek a new policeman.

Why go to all that trouble?

Why not employ the Pottstown police department to patrol the township?

Sounds impractical? Of course it isn't!

Pottstown borough probably would be happy to provide police service to its neighbors, provided a fee, commensurate to the services rendered, was paid. That fee wouldn't have to be too high.

In return, Stowe would get the services of a 32-man department well trained in police ways. Stowe would get 24-hour something every day, something it hasn't been able to afford.

This would be a goodwill gesture, an indication that the communities are drawing closer.

Already Stowe has Pottstown water and sewer services. Why not police? Stowe also has a tiein with the Pottstown fire department. A $100 appropriation was given West End Fire company for its willingness to serve here.

Pottstown has some property in Stowe, including airport and water department acreage. Why can't Stowe and Pottstown, then, get together on police protection?

We throw this out for Pottstown and Stowe government officials to think about, as well as to allow residents to mull it over.

Stay Alive to Beauty

MAY is here and the Pottstown area is a magnificent sight. The soft green garment of maturing Spring clothes the area with a regal, lively robe.

Soon the gardener will be spraying his lawn, his rose bushes, his other flowers, his trees and his shrubs. And this brings with it a warning: Frequent reports of the poisoning of small children and pets by insecticides indicate widespread lack of information concerning the toxic nature of these new compounds.

All warm blooded animals can be fatally poisoned by today's insecticides if they receive more than the maximum safe dose.

Modern insecticides are essentially of two different kinds: (1) chlorinated hydrocarbons; and (2) organic phosphorus compounds.

The mechanism by which the chlorinated hydrocarbon insecticides exert their poisoning in insects or in mammals is essentially unknown, though it is assumed that some enzyme system is disrupted.

In addition to acute poisoning effects, the chlorinated hydrocarbons persist in body fat and give rise to chronic poisonings. This group includes chlordane, dieldrin, aldrin, DDT, heptachlor, toxaphene, benzene hexachloride (BHC).

Treatment depends on control of convulsions by means of short acting barbiturates. Recommended is removal of swallowed poison by saline purges. An oily purgative would be harmful.

Organic phosphorus compounds exert their toxic effect by poisoning the cholinesterase, permitting an accumulation of excess acetycholine in the body—resulting in disorganization of the nervous system.

This group of poisons includes parathion, malathion, tetraethyl pyrophosphate (TEPP), diazinon, chlorothion. They gain entry to the animal body by inhalation, through the skin, through the eyes, or by ingestion and by all routes they are toxic.

Treatment of organic phosphate poisoning is effective if it is not delayed. Wash comtaminated skin thoroughly with soap and water; large doses of atropine sulfate administered intramuscularly or by vein, artificial respiration, when necessary.

Don't harm your children or pets this beautiful May.

Schuylkill Bridge Held in Bad Shape

Just Patched-Up Job

To the Editor: It is obvious to anyone who uses the South Hanover street bridge that it is in need of extensive repairs or replacement.

Several nights ago I inspected the bridge and counted 14 steel plates of varying sizes which had been welded to the steel mesh flooring to patch up holes.

Many of the plates had broken their weld on one or two sides, with the result that each time a vehicle hit them they made a loud noise as they went down and up again. With a line of traffic it was a constant clickety-clack.

At one end of the bridge was a loose steel plate which some good citizen had evidently carried to the side when it came completely loose from the hole it was covering. Where it had been resting previously the mesh flooring was loose on two sides and rising up and down with the traffic.

Large segments of the bridge floor ride up and down with each vehicle. It was impossible to count the innumerable places where patches of steel mesh flooring were welded into place to repair the original floor.

Much of the bridge is in a bad condition of rust. At several places the guard rails are loose from where they were originally joined to the bridge itself.

Despite constant replacement of wood the pedestrian crosswalks are far from being in good condition.

The bridge shakes from automobiles, and probably many pedestrians have actually been frightened when heavy trucks cross it.

For a number of years the bridge has been posted with a 13-ton maximum gross weight limit, with a 10 mph speed limit for trucks, and a mimimum distance of 300 feet between trucks.

To my knowledge these restrictions have never been enforced.

I would like to recommend that the planning committee for a bypass also inspect this bridge since it will be grossly effected by their plans for an interchange at South Hanover street.

Stop the Parade!

To the Editor: I think it's very inconsiderate of some spoiled, nervy women to clutter up High street with their baby carriages.

They line up, three and four abreast, or they gather in knots, to impede foot traffic. They chase the walkers out into the gutters.

When will some policeman with backbone stop this sort of thing?

Pottstown CHASED

Hemmed In, Gets Ticket

To the Editor: Here is one that tops them all.

I saw a woman auto owner being given a ticket for over parking, when she couldn't get out of the parking space because three big trucks were double parked.

This happened right on High street, between Hanover and Penn. I think it's darn shame because the stores have alley entrances and the trucks could go around. Instead, they are allowed to double park, and they get in the way of shoppers.

You'd think the stores themselves would see they're cutting off their noses.

Jury System Out-Moded?

To the Editor: For many years I have thought that a change should be effected in our present method of trying cases before a jury.

It is not uncommon for a jury to fail to agree on a verdict. A concrete example is noted in the daily press report of the trial of Rep. Clayton Powell of New York just completed.

It is presumed that the 12 men and women on the jury sat through the seven weeks of the trial, listening to the same evidence the same arguments of the attorneys, and the same instructions of he court, yet they returned a report to the court that they were unable to agree on a verdict.

The foreman of the jury reported that the vote stood six to six on the first ballot taken, and did no change throughout the 24 hours' discussion of the case by the jury. He said it was useless to go on. The judge dismissed them.

Does it not seem folly to continue to try cases by this antiquated and expensive system? There may be a better way.

HARRY TRUMAN'S midtown strolls invariably are lively. The other morning the former President poked his head into a Madison avenue bookstore and smilingly told a clerk: "Don't forget to plug 'Mr. Citizen' when it comes out!" That's his book—due on the stands soon.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

MARTIN M., aged 27, is a high school teacher.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I have been taking some extra classes in our extension center, and also go to Summer school, for I want to get my MS degree.

"But I have noticed that some of my college teachers are very poor. In fact, they wouldn't be tolerated in a city high school.

"For example, they often fail to orient students at the opening meeting of the class.

"And they don't explain how they award grades or tell us the relative amount of grade credit that our lab work will count versus written exams.

Some of them are outright lazy and try to get by on theoretical lectures they outlined 10 or 20 years before and apparently haven't tried to improve since. What do you psychologists think about a teacher's role in the classroom?"

GRAMMAR and high school teachers as a group rate far above the college standard.

For they pick teaching as a career and then take a major in the field of education, with many courses in psychology and classroom problems.

College professors don't have to take a single course in these vital subjects, which is why many of them don't even understand the A-B-C's of effective teaching.

You laymen may feel shocked at this expose' of college inefficiency but it is generally correct.

OH, A MINORITY of college profs teach themselves about such basic problems, but there is no requirement that college profs even have a single course in public speaking or psychology or educational methods, etc.

All the college profs need is to acquire a Ph.D., maybe in some such farfetched field as "The Love Life of the Gold Fish".

Then they win a Ph.D., and with a recommendation from their college department head or the dean, they soon land a teaching job.

Perhaps they are assigned courses on "Advertising Psychology" or "Child Psychology", but they may know little about anything save the love of the goldfish!

Yet they strut their stuff and try to impress alert, mature college men and women, who often are ahead of their profs in practical gumption.

Inside Television

By EVE STARR

STARR REPORT: An advertising agency vice president, a man responsible for buying a number of series now on the air, recently applied the kiss of death to good actors and at the same time took a back-handed swipe at the viewing public.

His name is Dick Pinkham and he's with the Ted Bates agency. In a recent issue of Television Digest, a high-level trade paper which is rarely seen by the general public, he had this to say:

"We see a lot of pilots each year with truly competent leads. I mean actors like Lee J. Cobb or James Whitmore. It's wonderful to watch people like these work—if you enjoy theater. But for national TV consumption, I'd rather have a sexy male like Efrem Zimbalist Jr. or Rory Calhoun. If he has sex appeal, women will watch, and women buy most of the household products."

The male leads in series bought by the Bates agency are as follows: Efrem Zimbalist Jr., Rory Calhoun, Raymond Burr, Gardner McKay, Richard Long, Anthony Eisley, Bob Conrad, John Forsythe and Robert Stack.

To any student of the art of acting, it is apparent that none of these qualify as genuine actors. Calhoun, McKay, Long, Eisley and Conrad are pure personalities with little or no genuine ability, although Long is perhaps the best of the lot.

John Forsythe is a notch above them as the smoother, more sophisticated personality. Burr and Stack are of the stone-faced, small-smile school—quite competent performers but not actors in the classic sense. Zimbalist is the rugged matinee idol type, perhaps a notch above Forsythe.

REGARDLESS OF how much one might like these performers (which is precisely Pinkham's point), they simply could not handle roles that have been done in the past by such men as Lee J. Cobb, James Whitmore, Marlon Brando, Everett Sloane, Paul Muni, Rod Steiger or Eli Wallach, to name an even half dozen.

Pinkham is right. Very few genuine actors make it as stars. Brando is an exception (and can you possibly picture any one of the Bates series stars playing Kowalski in "A Street Car Named Desire"?).

Quite possibly one of the most inept actors in the country today is James Arness. But he is ruggedly handsome and stalwart—and his show, "Gunsmoke," is the top-rated show in all TV. So before you blow your top over Pinkham's remarks, first take a good look at your own likes and dislikes.

Interpreting The News

West Virginia—Bigotry Hotbed

By ARTHUR EDSON
Associated Press Observer

If it's religious bigotry you're hunting, you won't have to search far in West Virginia.

You can leave Charleston, the state capital, drive along the pretty Elk River, and cross over to Pinch. It's a lovely place, and it's easy to fall into a conversation with a kindly retired industrial worker. Soon the talk drifts to the presidential primary race May 10 between Sens. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) and Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn). And how did he expect to vote?

"Well, I'll tell you," he said, "It won't be for no Cannady, I say no man can pray another man into heaven."

Freely translated, this means that Kennedy is a Roman Catholic, and this is one vote he won't get.

Another Pinch man put it this way: "Right smart of them around here are for Humphrey."

It's easy to make too much of this. West Virginia has no patent on intolerance. To paraphrase Will Rogers, we're all prejudiced, only in different directions.

If you drive southeast, along the Kanawha River, and turn left at Port Amherst, you'll find Fisher's pool room, and a hotbed of tolerance.

Willie Fisher pushes a beer across the counter and says: "I'm a Protestant myself. Usually go to church Sunday, but last week I didn't feel so good. I listened to the radio, and here was this preacher saying how no one should vote for Kennedy because he's a Catholic.

"Soon as he finished I called him up and told him I figger a man had a right to belong to any church he chooses. I thought he had damn little to do to stand in that pulpit and criticize Kennedy. He said, "I don't have any more time to talk to you.' "

Lewis Walton, a handyman in a machine shop, is another Kennedy supporter.

"But I went to the doctor in town today," Walton said, "and do you know what he told me? 'Lord have mercy on the American people if he gets in.' "

Or wander up Cabin Creek, a stream bordered by what the natives call "blowed-out mines." Because it's close to Charleston, nearly every political visitor tours Cabin Creek, and it threatens to become as celebrated as New York's Bowery.

Slim Robertson, manager of the company store at Eskdale, explained how he became a store manager in 1923, how by 1948 the company employed 1300 coal miners and its three stores did $1,250,000 business annually, how the mines and store are closed now, how the one mine, when it reopens, will hire only 40 men.

"I hope Kennedy can do something about this," Robertson said. And, careful to show prejudice didn't guide him, he said: "I'm a Mason myself."

ALL AROUND THE TOWN

Of Mother Goose . . . And Royal Say . . .

★ DAY—So Mother's Day is Sunday! Of all the mothers who will be taking bows, none has shown more stamina than the little old lady who has been putting children to sleep for more than 200 years. But Mother Goose may have had more on her mind than nonsense rhymes. In fact, she may have been taking pot shots at some of the key figures of her day. "Rock-a-bye baby on the tree top" sounds harmless enough. But the lullaby—popular during the time of James I of England—might have been a joking reference to James' shaky hold on his throne. The little boy who sat in a corner eating his Christmas pie was really an English steward sent to London with a pie for the king. In the days of Henry VIII, important papers often were baked in pies, and this particular one supposedly contained title deeds for several English estates. The greedy Jack Horner, however, stole the king's "plum"—the deed to an estate that had once belonged to the Church of England. . .

HUMPTY DUMPTY may have been Richard III. The deformed villain seized the throne of England in 1483 after imprisoning his 12-year-old nephew, the rightful king, in the Tower of London. Two years later he was killed in the battle of Bosworth Field, and "all the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put Humpty together again." All was not "pudding and pie" for George I, whose German background and tastes disturbed his British subjects. Perhaps they were expressing their resentment—and pointing to his behavior at court—when they chanted: "Georgey Porgey, pudding and pie,/ Kissed the girls and made them cry;/ When the boys came out to play,/ Georgey Porgey ran away!"

* * *

★ MOVERS—The Cantor and Mrs. Mano Engel have moved to 645 High street from 421 High street. The Rev. Engel, cantor at the Congregation Mercy and Truth synagog, can be remembered from Mercury stories describing his efforts to bring his refugee wife, Ilona, to United States. Both fled the Hungarian uprising against communism in 1956, but became separated. They were reunited in January. Mrs. Engel, calling Pottstown her "dream home" when she arrived, is still determined to stay here forever. Dr. Sylvia Cohen is the Engel's landlord. . . Edwin L. Shellenberger, Pottstown recreation director, is attending the Pennsylvania State Recreation conference at Pennsylvania State university this week.

Your Health

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

I KNOW the tremendous disappointment a pair of proud parents experience when their long-awaited baby is born with a cleft lip.

I sympathize with them.

But I don't want them to feel that nowadays it is a hopeless situation.

The doctor undoubtedly will recommend an operation to close the gap and restore the face to more normal features. But he probably will recommend waiting awhile until the child is pretty well along in his physical development.

This may place a mental strain on the parents who are worried about what people may say upon seeing the cleft, but it should not present any great physical strain.

Repair of a cleft lip generally is not an emergency operation. And no unsolvable problem will be encountered in caring for a baby with such a handicap.

Dr. Eugene T. McDonald, noted speech and hearing specialist, suggests that feeding, for example, can be accomplished more easily just by using a soft nipple with large holes.

A baby with a cleft lip or cleft palate should be held in a sitting position when being fed milk instead of in the customary reclining position.

This prevents the milk from running into the baby's nose and out his nostrils.

Dr. McDonald reports that a clinic which kept a careful record of the feeding of 200 babies with cleft palates found that only three presented any feeding problems.

Plastic surgery is the only way to repair a cleft lip. Sometimes two operations are required because the first simply brings the separated parts of the lip into as good relationship as possible.

A second operation may be necessary to improve the appearance of the lip still further by correcting unevenness of the lip that might still remain following the first operation.

Scars probably will be noticeable immediately after the surgery, but they will fade in time.

What Kind of Man Is Margaret Getting?

Antony's Friends Call Him Charming

Editor's Note—What kind of man is Princess Margaret marrying Friday? Eddy Gilmore, who knows his way among the smart set in London, gives a quick picture in this first of a series of articles dealing with the royal marriage, its ritual and the days ahead.

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Antony Armstrong-Jones is a charming young man with golden hair and big blue eyes.

He's colorful, but not flamboyant.

He's been a bit of a Bohemian, but not in the grand eccentric manner.

He used to give midnight parties in his arty basement apartment, but they were never the wild abandoned revels that some people imagine.

He's a witty commentator on people, places and things, but lacking the mature wisdom or wit of a man of the world.

Tony is 30.

He's known and liked by widely varying people—London toughies, wan young men, debutantes, stylishly sloppy juveniles, actors and actresses, exotic beauties, and aristocrats as well as average subjects by the crown.

Although highly attractive to women he was not—until he wooed Princess Margaret—regarded by girls as the marrying kind.

Yet among this varied circle of friends few if any ever have been known to say they don't like him.

In describing him they invariably use the word charming.

By profession a photographer, he abandoned his trade to wed Her Royal Highness.

But the public probably will link him with a lens for the rest of his life.

Four years ago he pointed a camera at the Duke of Kent — and fate stared over his shoulder.

With that snap of a shutter he was on his way down the royal road of romance.

The then 21-year-old Duke liked what Tony's camera did for his hardly classical features.

More important, perhaps, the Duke's mother liked the picture, and the Duchess of Kent is an arbiter of fashion behind Britain's Royal family.

Tony was then only 26.

One of the persons to whom the Duchess spoke was Queen Elizabeth II.

Impressed, the Queen commissioned Tony to photograph her children, Prince Charles and Princess Anne.

Tony scored a royal double and then parlayed this into a commission to take Princess Margaret's official birthday photograph.

Entering her last year before she would be 30, the spinster princess not only liked Armstrong-Jones' portrait, but liked bachelor Tony. They had met earlier at a party.

See Editorial Cartoon, "United Kingdom," on Page 4.

Paradoxically, this colorful fellow achieved artistic, financial and social success in black and white.

The pictures he's snapped in color — a far trickier field — have never been hailed as great successes.

Some critics didn't always acclaim his black and whites but all agreed his pictures were original.

A book of his photograph of Londoners included such unorthodox subjects as:

A scene in a ladies Turkish bath. One of the ladies was naked.

A stripteaser writhing out of her clothes.

The profile of a dead hog and two sweaty meathandlers at Smithfield market.

Tony's success in life began with a failure—when he flunked his examinations at Cambridge.

Of his school days he once observed:

"My reports always said, 'could do better, doesn't really try'."

Tony became an apprentice to the late Baron Nahum, a photographer to the Royal Court.

He applied himself and set himself up in a former hardware shop in London's fashionable Pimlico section.

Here he took pictures, entertained friends, did his own cooking and threw gay parties, some noisy but not naughty.

As a child Tony had polio.

In overcoming a slight limp he developed a rapid, almost bounding way of walking. But no one ever called him a bounder.

He and actress-model Jackie Chan were very close friends.

Another great friend was Jane Baker, 24 year old niece of Lord Bridport.

"You know," she once recalled, "Tony just didn't ever seem the marrying kind."

Tony—and that's the way he likes to be known—is five feet four and slight with a head like an Adonis.

In his active photographer days, he dressed in tight-fitting jeans or cavalry twill slacks and a large bulky sweater.

He did not like ties.

Now all this has changed.

As the man who will marry the Queen's sister, he wears dark tailored lounge suits and always a tie.

As the husband of Princess Margaret he will probably never have to worry about money.

But some who know the Princess say he may have other worries.

She's headstrong and outspoken. She can sulk, fume, flash her pale blue eyes, stomp her tiny feet and wither listeners with sarcasm.

But she can also be gracious, friendly and entertaining.

They appear to be deeply in love.

(The second in this series will appear tomorrow.)

Wedding Is Imminent

All England is feverishly preparing for the pageantry that will accompany the marriage of popular Princess Margaret and the well-liked ex-photographer Anton Armstrong-Jones. The full panoply of royal ceremonies will be seen when the eyes of the world will be focussed on Westminster Abbey Friday.

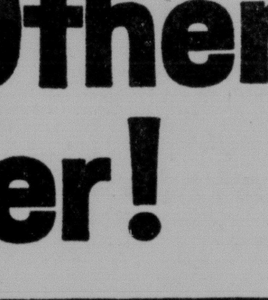

BEST WISHES FOR MEG— A five-foot-high wedding cake is the gift of Staff Sgt. Neil Smith of the British Army Catering Corps to Princess Margaret and Antony Armstrong-Jones. Smith baked the 130-pound cake on his own in Aldershot, England, and paid for the ingredients himself. He used 96 eggs and 24 pounds of sugar.

Norco Sewer Bids

sewage, costs fell to an estimated $825,000.

But bids on Tuesday totalled just $736,696.28.

Township supervisors, sewer authority members and engineers were openly delighted.

Stauffer Kutz, authority member, remarked, "It's great. Waiting to pare excess items certainly paid off."

HIS REFERENCE to "waiting" recalled that sewage needs have been considered in North Coventry for five years. Under pressure from the State, a plan to abate sewage problems was drawn in 1956.

Since then, various plans were considered, but little was done. A sewer authority finally was established in February, 1959.

There was a great deal of talk about linking the township's sewage lines to Pottstown's treatment plant.

After bids were counted Tuesday, Evan Kranzley, solicitor for the authority, declared, "We've done so well with finances, that it seems pretty remote now to think about hooking up to Pottstown."

A. ERWIN COLVER, president of the authority, said, "I'm not closing any doors to joining Pottstown's sewer system. But in all candor, I must say these construction bids are making us feel pretty independent."

No construction bids for a tie-in system with Pottstown were asked Tuesday. The reason, said Colver, is that Pottstown gave no figures to base finances upon.

Estimates by North Coventry put the cost of a tie-in plan at $560,000.

The construction cost to serve up to 5000 people in North Coventry could be $736,696 minus a Federal grant of $140,000.

The Federal aid, however, is not a surety. Two other Pennsylvania communities top North-Coventry on the list of places wanting aid for public works.

J. RUSSELL KEIM, president of supervisors, said a check was made in Harrisburg on Tuesday to see if those two communities withdrew their requests for money.

They had not, but Keim said he was not pessimistic. There still is time for those communities to relinquish or forfeit their Federal funds.

The total bond issue in North Coventry will depend on whether or not aid for sewers is received. The estimated bond cost last year was $1,250,000. It could be about $1 million now.

A more precise figure is expected within 10 days. Construction bids will be awarded and work probably started within 60 days, declared a spokesman.

Prior to floating a bond issue, a public meeting to air and explain all technical and policy details will be conducted in North Coventry.

was made, it was agreed that Pottstown could cut off service, with reasonable notice, anytime the local sewage plant couldn't handle all of the borough's needs efficiently.

"But we don't want to cut them off," said Hoffecker, "We'd rather see them plan for the day when they can hook up altogether and expand."

"But I'd like to hear from them if they want to have a meeting with us," said Hoffecker.

Robert Cope Joins School Survey Group

Supervising Principal Robert W. Cope, was absent from the Schwenksville district for three days last week to serve with fourteen other educators on a committee to evaluate the Clarks Summit-Abington High school at Clarks Summit, near Scranton. The evaluation is performed under the direction of the Middle States association of Colleges and Secondary schools so that the high school may qualify for accreditation by the association. Present plans call for Schwenksville High school to be evaluated in 1962

RECORD HIGH BUDGET GETS BOARD OKAY

Douglass Schoolmen See No Tax Boost

A record high school budget was approved Tuesday in Douglass (Berks) township.

The community's educational bill probably will be $16,000 higher than in 1959. The total will be $263,791.

Most of the increase will be for teacher salaries.

No tax increases are forecast, said Robert Conrad, school board secretary.

He explained that a surplus of funds from 1959 coupled with a higher assessment and more State aid will retain taxes at present levels. Real estate levies are 42 mills.

Upper Pottsgrove To Air Builder Request

The Upper Pottsgrove board of adjustment will consider a request May 12, by a Pottstown man, to build a home on an undersized lot at Route 100 and Gilbertsville road.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p. m. in the Upper Pottsgrove Elementary school.

A. Pierce Hagenbuch, 10 East Eighth street, owns the property on the northeast corner of the intersection. According to the zoning code, board approval is necessary if the property is slightly smaller than provisions.

De Haven to Keep Post Despite Plea for Removal

said Tuesday night. "He seems to think I have a personal grudge against DeHaven, and that it is just a fight between him and me. It can't be just a personal grudge when a hundred people are willing to sign a petition."

Mrs. Eachus explained why she was "picking on" DeHaven.

"I don't feel that he exercises common sense. His main idea in life is to gain glory for himself and get his name in front of the public. He just isn't the man suited for the job. He doesn't have the qualities of a policeman."

To back up her charges that the police chief doesn't "exercise his common sense," she related two incidents that she had personally observed.

"He once chased three speeding cars through the center of town," she pointed out. "They were on the right and he pulled alongside them on the left, even though he was proceeding up a hill on a two-lane street. He had no way of seeing what was coming in the other direction, and when a car came over the crest of the hill, it was only lucky that there was room to pull off the road onto a shoulder."

Mrs. Eachus also said that she observed DeHaven speed down an S-curve road during the day with the siren on, even though 28 young children lived along the stretch of the road and would be attracted into the street by the siren.

"He just doesn't use his sense when he's acting as police chief," she concluded.

The residency question was answered at Monday night's meeting. Rhoads said that the board did not consider residency outside the township as sufficient grounds for dismissal. His position was backed up by Leon Ehrlich, of Reading, township solicitor.

KEELOR SAID that he was "not much concerned" about the appeal, which was dismissed by the State Supreme court. He explained that he did not think the court would consider it again after they had found against it the first time because the plaintiffs "had no supporting facts."

The sewer authority met Tuesday night and approved a motion to run the sewer lines down Main street (Route 29) in the three towns. Keelor admitted "there may be some opposition from the public."

The authority also heard a reading of the telegram from Roberts to the solicitors for the three boroughs. The solicitors are C. Edmund Wells, Raymond Pearlstine and Willard Hetzel. No action was taken on the telegram because the action threatened by Roberts has not yet been filed.

Pottstown's 'Cured' Cancer Patient Will Be Honored at Society Fete

Cured Cancer Day will be celebrated next Wednesday to honor 19 Montgomery and Philadelphia county residents who have had nearly 300 years added to their lives because the disease was spotted early enough to be controlled.

Joseph Estreicher, 1442 Sunset drive, will be one of those honored. Doctors discovered he was suffering from the dreaded disease 14 years ago. Today, with the aid of new advances in cancer research, he leads a fairly active life for a man of 72.

He will be honored along with the 18 others cured of the disease at the third reporting luncheon of the current American Cancer Society crusade.

Before the luncheon at the Wawrick hotel, Philadelphia, the 19 will face reporters, photographers and cameramen in order to explain to their fellow citizens the need for contributing and the importance of regular medical checkups.

DR. JOHN V. BLADY, Philadelphia - Montgomery county president of the association, will welcome the guests of honor. Dr. Blady is a clinical professor of surgery and director of the Tumor clinic at Temple University hospital and Medical school.

More than 20,000 volunteers are currently collecting funds for the three-pronged attack on cancer through a program of research, education and service. The 19 guests are living proof of the time and energy the volunteers give each year to collect funds in the campaign.

Lane W. Adams, National executive vice president of the American Cancer society, will be another guest at the affair. Charles D. Root Jr., general chairman, will preside at the meeting.

Montgomery and Philadelphia county volunteers will be out to break the tie created at the April 28 reporting luncheon when both reported 50.1 percent of their quotas.

past years without fining them.

The tickets were placed on cars parked on Route 100, Coventryville road, Lazy Point road and Frog Town road, near French creek between Bucktown and Coventryville.

THE ROAD board and the Sportsmen's association reached a tentative agreement to control parking in the areas. The association is to solicit the co-operation of anglers and is to prepare signs for limiting parking to one side of the road.

The association's chief concern in the matter lies in the need of maintaining access to the creek for fishermen.

Matthews pointed out that the State Fish and Game commission will not stock streams that have no access or a very limited access for fishermen.

The French creek has been stocked repeatedly since 1934, he added.

Other sportsmen club leaders appearing at the meeting were: Howard Weyman, Pottstown Star Route, president of the Chester County Federation of Sportsman's clubs; James Farrell, Phoenixville, a delegate of the Southeast division of the State Federation of Sportsman's clubs; and Donald Reitenouer, Pottstown RD 2, an officer of the Northern Chester County club.

OFFICIALS AGHAST AT ESTIMATE

North Coventry's consulting engineers.

McKINNEY NOTED that water service to Kenilworth went across the Schuylkill river on the South Keim street bridge some years ago at a cost of less than $10,000.

McCabe then looked into the North Coventry quote of its share of enlarging the treatment plant — $275,000.

"I don't think our Authority has any idea what portion of the enlargement costs would be allocated to Norco," said McCabe.

Albright and Friel, consulting engineers, drew up a study and report on the volume increase to be expected when North Coventry — and later, other townships — came into the plant.

THESE ENGINEERS then proposed a second phase study for about $5000 which would detail how North Coventry, the Pottsgroves, and Pottstown could combine to increase the sewage plant.

This phase would have given the cost estimates of Norco's share. The North Coventry authority decided against the second phase.

"Their cut certainly wouldn't have been that much, because the increases would also greatly benefit Pottstown . . . but I don't know where they got the $275,000," McCabe said.

He could only surmise, he said that the township's consulting engineers made the estimates.

"CONSEQUENTLY, we stand ready, willing and able to help them and give them the benefit of our experiences," said McCabe.

"Their course now lies outside of Pottstown, and there is no animosity. We (the sewer authority here) are a non-profit organization and we simply thought it would be advantageous for North Coventry to consider joining.

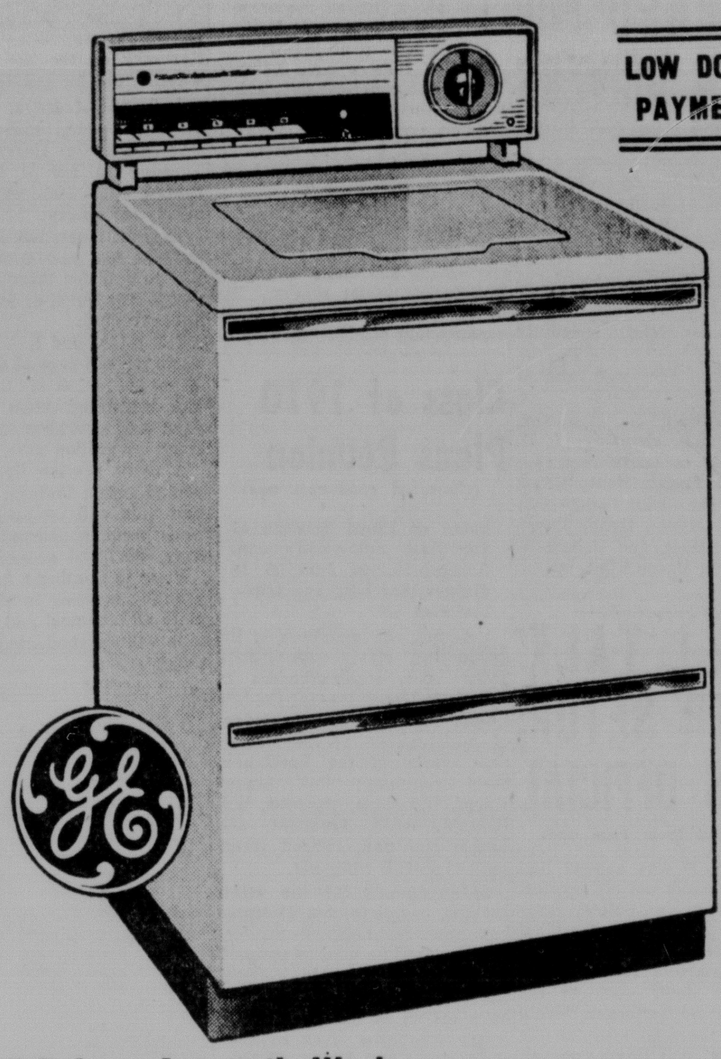

"It is now their problem . . . we were willing to help them solve it. Apparently it hasn't worked out to their advantage to hook up," McCabe said.

McCabe, in a reply to Colver, said he thanked the North Coventry group for their courtesy to Pottstown's representatives while a hook-up was being discussed.

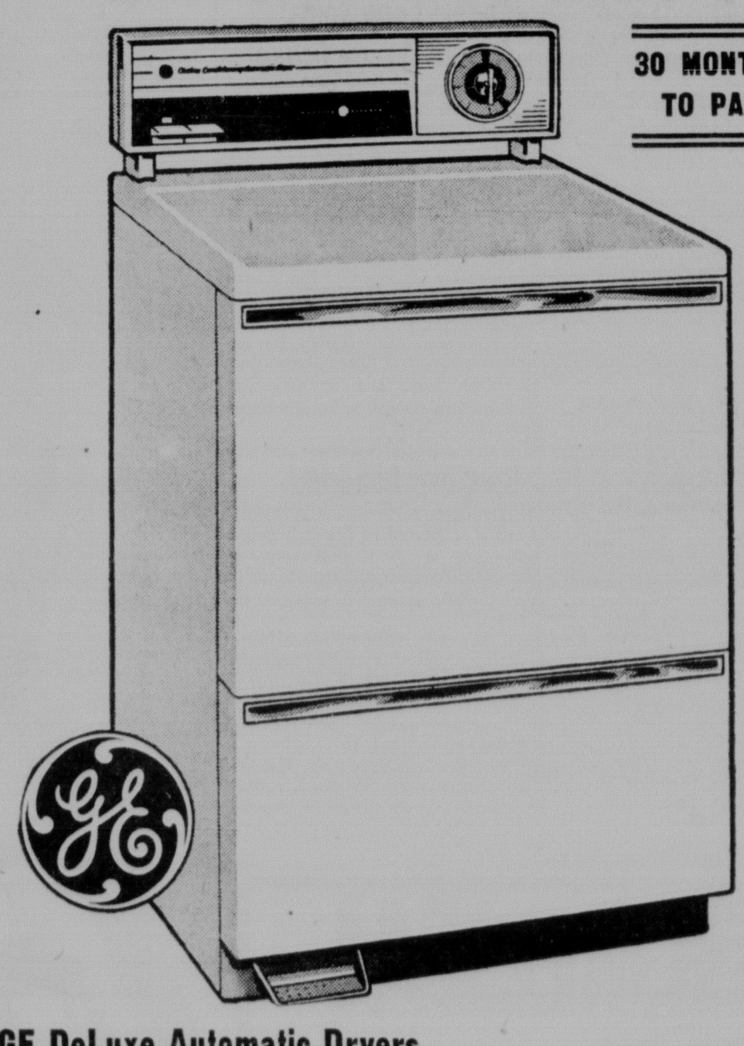

On behalf of the Pottstown authority and the borough's officials, McCabe said he wishes North Coventry success in its venture, and offers a helping hand if any problems arise.

Lower Pottsgrove Denied Appeal Of Township Market Evaluation

The State Tax Equalization board has turned down a Lower Pottsgrove township appeal of market evaluation of the township, the Lower Pottsgrove school board learned Tuesday night.

A report from the State board read by Secretary Michael Petrick stated that the 17 percent increase in market evaluation in the township would not be revised.

The Equalization board set the market value of the Lower Pottsgrove district at slightly over $23½ million dollars for the 1959-60 school year, an increase of $3½ million from the preceding year.

In its appeal the Pottsgrove board contended that the major increase was "not supported by local economic conditions."

THE STATE replied that the increased evaluation was based on information "of recent years" and that the preceding year's lower evaluation was made on "outdated formation that has been discarded."

The market value set by the State board determines the rental of each township school in a joint district and has an effect on the amount of State reimbursement coming to each school.

The increased market evaluation, which would permit an increase in real estate millage, is not in effect for the 1959-60 school year because of a freeze placed on evaluations by the State Legislature. The new figures are to be used for tax computation in the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The board approved payment of $25,000 for May to the Pottsgrove Joint School district.

David Scherer was re-elected treasurer for the 1960-61 fiscal year.

The board will meet Monday night at 8:30 o'clock to draw up its budget for the next fiscal year.

Istanbul Incident

Soldiers hustle along a student arrested in Istanbul in a new demonstration against Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes' government. Students clashed with soldiers within sight of Istanbul's city hall where NATO foreign ministers were meeting. City is under martial law because of recent student demonstrations.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Tanks Stand Guard as Big 3 Pledge Stand Against Reds

ISTANBUL (AP)—The Western Big Three pledged to their NATO partners Tuesday they will seek an all-or-nothing understanding with the Soviet Union to end the global cold war at the summit.

No piecemeal settlements would really relax East-West tension, it was agreed.

Turkish tanks stood guard at the far end of the plaza from the new city hall where the 15 foreign ministers of the NATO council met and reached these conclusions.

But only one incident marred an otherwise quiet day. The city is under martial law as a result of student demonstrations demanding that Turkish Premier Adnan Menderes' government restore political freedoms.

Fifty students assembled for an antigovernment parade near Taksim Square in the heart of the city but troops with bayonets levelled moved in and dispersed them before they could form ranks.

The army was taking no chances. Troops patrolled the streets in threes soon after the 8 p.m. curfew and heavy tanks rumbled to ancient Dolmabache Palace where the NATO ministers were at a banquet.

These were the highlights of the NATO Council session as related by senior authorites:

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville assured their allies any stopgap deal arranged by President Eisenhower and the summit chiefs on Berlin will leave Western rights intact. Otherwise, they promised, there will be no deal with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev at the summit meeting in Paris.

Herter, Lloyd and Couve de Murville stressed they will demand that the Soviets quit trying to upset governments such as those of West Germany, Greece and Iran—if a detente really is wanted. Detente is a french word widely used by diplomats to mean relaxation of tension.

As a sort of slogan the Allies resolved that the Soviets must be told any East-West detente must be indivisable.

It was a Soviet statesman, the late Maxim Litvinov, who made the idea famous when he said in the perilous mid-1930's that peace is indivisible.

Lloyd declared there could be no selective detente, and truly peaceful coexistence requires an end to Soviet defamatory campaigns against such countries as West Germany, Greece and Iran.

On Germany all accepted a Western Big Three idea for an all-German plebiscite which Khrushchev will hear about. The plebiscite would let East and West Germans decide if they want unity or continued division as the Soviets desire.

On disarmament it was arranged that the West would seek Khrushchev's help in trying to break the impasse in East-West negotiations to end the world arms race. It was decided to propose a few concrete measures and to do some real talking in secret at the Paris meetings on this.

President Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan will have separate sessions with the Soviets to settle the two main obstacles holding up agreement to quit nuclear weapon tests. The Allies hope the talks will open the way to signature of a treaty by midsummer.

Dick Clark Called Top Dog in Payola; Congressmen Blast Television 'Trash'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Television took some new blows Tuesday from congressmen complaining about trash, poor taste in programming and overcommercialization.

The industry was defended by President Leonard H. Goldenson of the American Broadcasting Co., testifying in the windup of House payola hearings which began last November.

Rep. Peter F. Mack (D-Ill), declared: "I think something must be done to control the trash over our airways."

Goldenson objected. He said TV is just 10 years old but is now giving Americans some of the greatest shows they've ever seen.

Mack also declared the hearings convinced him "Dick Clark not only is the top disc jockey in the country but also is top dog in payola."

Clark is ABC's nationally televised entertainer whose shows have a particular appeal for teenagers. He swore to the investigating committee he never took payola or any kind of a bribe for pushing records.

The committee put into its record a study prepared by staff members on the basis of what tunes got a play on Clark's afternoon show. This said it is clear that Clark "pushed songs in which he had an interest."

Clark had told the committee he played records on merit, that he never consciously favored those in which he stood to profit through sideline connections.

Also, in the windup, the investigators reported that 130 record distributors in cities across the nation handed out $263,244 in payola in the last two years. It said this money went to 207 disc jockeys and other radio-TV station personnel and to 12 stations themselves.

The report was based on 130 replies to questionnaires sent to 230 distributors in 23 cities.

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif) scoffed at the idea that televisions' faults are the faults of youth.

"How can it be so young and have so many bad habits?" Moss asked.

There's a commercial gimmick in almost everything on TV, he said, and "I think you have reached a point where this most important means of communication has been subverted."

Rep. William L. Springer (R-Ill) suggested TV programming needs an inquiry all its own.

He criticized ABC's replacing the Firestone Hour of music with Bourbon Street Beat—"one of the worst programs I ever saw."

Goldenson said stiff competition dictated the change.

Italy Convicts 'Monster' for Nine Murders

BERGAMO, Italy (AP)—Italy's "monster of Pontiglio," convicted of murdering nine persons, was sentenced Tuesday to four terms of life imprisonment.

Italy, whose press has largely professed shock at the execution of Caryl Chessman, has no death sentence. The four life terms presumably insure that the slayer, Vitalino Morandini, will now live behind prison walls until he dies.

In addition, Morandini, a 44-year-old laborer, got a 28-year sentence for robberies in which no one was killed.

The slayings took place during a bloody nine weeks in Morandini's career of crime—from November 1955 until January 1956.

In that brief period Morandini killed a cousin for vengeance. Then he killed three persons in a robbery, burning their house over the bodies; two in another robbery; and three more in another robbery.

At the village of Pontoglio, he slew a farmer, his wife and their daughter.

Goods that Morandini took gave police their clue to the murderer.

Philadelphia Area Employment Up

PHILADELPHIA, (AP) — Employment in the Philadelphia metropolitan area increased 2 percent last year, the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia announced.

An increase of 28,200 workers gave the eight-county Philadelphia area a total employment in non-agricultural fields of 1,461,500, the third highest in the country. The New York and Los Angeles areas have more workers.

Besides Philadelphia, the counties in the metropolitan area are Bucks, Montgomery, Delaware and Chester in Pennsylvania, and Burlington, Camden and Gloucester in New Jersey.

State Moves Against Firms Selling Tainted Kangaroo Meat

HARRISBURG, (AP)—Thousands of pounds of kangaroo meat have been sold for human consumption in Pennsylvania, the Justice and Agriculture departments reported Tuesday.

In a joint statement Agriculture Secretary William L. Henning and Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern said a State investigation: " . . . conclusively established that thousands of pounds of the (kangaroo) meat eventually found their way into the hands of sausage manufacturers and into the stomachs of unsuspecting citizens in Pennsylvania and elsewhere."

Henning and Alpern said action has been taken against three Pittsburgh firms doing business under the name of Illinois Beef and Provision company.

Henning also issued a show cause citation against the Royalist Provision company of Philadelphia, requiring that firm to justfiy its operaitons in Pennsylvania.

"Sample of a 5640-pound lot of kangaroo meat brought in by the Royalist firm and seized by the Department of Agriculture, were chemically analyzed," the statement said, adding:

"These tests indicated an unwholesome and dangerous contamination of the meat. The investigation established that 600 pounds of kangaroo meat were actually used by the Royalist firm in its Philadelphia plant and processed for human consumption.

"In the case of the Pittsburgh firms, the evidence collected indicated that large quantities of kangaroo meat—in excess of 22,000 pounds — were sold to sausage manufacturers in and outside of Pennsylvania for human consumption."

"Tests made of some of this meat seized by the Department of Agriculture indicated extremely high bacteria count."

There is no State law prohibiting consumption of kangaroo meat. However, State health and meat inspection laws set up rigid sanitary requirements for slaughter houses and other meat handling establishments.

Earlier this year the Agriculture department said there was no way of determining whether the kangaroo meat had met any of the State restrictions.

In a separate statement, Henning said the cases uncovered by the investigation "represent only a microscopic part of the meat business in this State." He added:

"Meat and meat products now being sold in Pennsylvania are wholesome and nourishing. For the housewife to reassure herself of this fact, she need only look for the State or Federal seal of inspection on the meat or meat products she buys."

Probers Blamed For Frightening Diabetes Victims

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigators were told Tuesday that testimony in their drug hearings has frightened some diabetes patients so badly they have dropped all medication.

Dr. James M. Moss, director of the Georgetown Diabetes Clinic here, said the result may be an irreversible worsening of the patients' condition.

Moss aimed his remarks at Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee which is conducting the investigation. He said that if the patients suffer permanent harm the responsibility will be Kefauver's.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (Ill), the Senate Republican leader and a member of the subcommittee, ordered a copy of Moss's letter published in the Congressional Record. Dirksen also reviewed his own complaints about the tack the probe has taken in exploring the safety and efficacy of antidiabetic drugs.

An aide said Kefauver had not yet read Moss's letter, but might have some comment Wednesday.

The hearing now is investigating the antidiabetes drug Diabinese, which is taken by mouth instead of by injection. It is manufactured by Charles Pfizer & Co. of Brooklyn, N.Y.

NEW SPEAKER

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Jaja Anucha Wachuku, 42, Nigerian who was admitted to the Irish bar after studying law at Dublin's Trinity College has been elected speaker of Nigeria's House of Representatives.

President Asks Congressmen to Stop Politicking

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower appealed to the Democratic-controlled Congress Tuesday to pass up politicking and get down to legislating for all America in these closing months of the election year session.

"Too great a preoccupation with events of an election year could seriously impede constructive effort," Eisenhower said in a special message.

"We should jointly resolve that the shortness of time and political rivalries will not be allowed to prevent us from serving the American people effectively."

Democrats on Capitol Hill greeted the above-politics tone of Eisenhower's message with who-does-he-think-he's-kidding skepticism.

"This speech—it's called a message but I call it a speech—seems to be the Republican platform," House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said.

Other Democrats accused Eisenhower of using a double standard in urging more foreign aid spending but a tighter curb on spending at home.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois praised Eisenhower's message as "an earnest appeal for a cooperative effort."

IKE INSPECTS NEW ATOMIC WEAPONS

Davey Crockett Gun Displayed for First Time

PRESIDENT DECLARES COUNTRY 'NOT SOFT'

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday inspected the Army's awesome arsenal of nuclear weapons. Then he declared that anyone who says America has "gone soft" and can't defend itself is mistaken.

His remarks in an informal talk at this huge infantry training center was a tribute to the nation's foot soldiers and new developments of the atomic age weapons which support them.

Among the weapons the President saw was the spectacular new Davey Crockett short-range and portable atomic gun. It was publicly displayed for the first time.

Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker said of that weapon, which can be fired by two men: "Davey Crockett dwarfs in firepower anything we had ever known in the immediate area of the battle line."

The Army added that civilian populations would not be endangered by its blast and that danger from radioactive fallout would be minimized.

In a spectacular firepower demonstration of various new weapons, the Army used no nuclear warheads, of course. But it did use live conventional ammunition. Eisenhower watched intently through binoculars as time after time targets on the range were hit with pinpoint accuracy.

The demonstration included the shooting of rockets from hovering helicopters and the launching of Honest John and Little John missiles with conventional warheads. The newest of Army tanks also took part in the display.

Declaring he wanted to salute the entire Benning team, Eisenhower said: "A day like this makes a man quite ready to call all those people mistaken, if not worse, who say that America has become soft and is not capable of defending itself."

That was a crack at critics in Congress and elsewhere who contend the nation's defenses are inadequate.

Nixon Takes Lead In Indiana Voting

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Vice President Richard M. Nixon forged in front of Democratic Sen. John F. Kennedy Tuesday night after trailing in the early count from Indiana's presidential preference primary.

In the District of Columbia, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota grabbed an apparently commanding 3-2 lead over Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon in a Democratic presidential popularity contest.

With 1,183 of 4,261 precincts counted in Indiana, Nixon had 115,750 votes on the Republican ballot. In the same number of precincts, Kennedy had 101,771 votes.

Kennedy and Nixon were running separately, with only token opposition, but their vote totals were being watched for a possible clue to their comparative pulling power.

Both men were assured of Indiana's first ballot delegate votes—32 for Nixon and 34 for Kennedy—at their party's respective nominating conventions next July.

With 60 boxes out of a total of 136 partially counted in the district's Democratic presidential preference contest, Humphrey led Morse 1,960-1,315.

In a parallel poll, a Humphrey slate of delegates was ahead of a Morse slate, while a roster promised to Adlai E. Stevenson trailed the others. Stevenson had disavowed the slate entered in his behalf.

At stake in the Democratic primary were eight of the district's nine convention votes. The other vote is to be split between the capital's Democratic national committeeman and committeewoman.

On the Republican side, Nixon was unopposed for D.C.'s nine delegate votes and he was drawing about 40 per cent of the light vote.

The turnout also was light in Indiana.

In Florida's Democratic primary—which had little national significance — former Statehouse Speaker Farris Bryant and State Sen. Doyle Carlton Jr. won runoff places in a 10-way race for the governorship nomination.

Like retiring Gov. Leroy Collins, who can not succeed himself, Carlton is classed as a moderate on racial issues. Bryant is champion of state's rights.

They will clash in a second primary May 24. In normally Democratic Florida, the Democratic gubernatorial nomination is tantamount to election.

Ohioans also went to the polls to choose nominees for state and congressional office, and to decide a Democratic party row between factions both pledged to Sen. Kennedy.

Rounding out the picture was a primary in Alabama.

There were hundreds of races for nominations in the Hoosier primary to state, county and township posts and for Indiana's 11 congressional seats.

In Ohio, Nixon had no challengers for the state's 56 convention votes, although Sen. George H. Bender—on the outs with the party organization—ran as a delegate pledged to himself. Bender is miffed because he was left off the organization's roster. He said in advance of the voting that he likes Nixon.

Kennedy had no worries about pocketing Ohio's 64 convention votes, despite a feud between Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Democratic Chairman Ray T. Miller Sr. of Cuyahoga County (Cleveland).

DiSalle sought the role as Ohio's favorite son pledged to Kennedy. He had 35 convention votes salted away before the ballots were counted. They were without opposition.

Miller contested the other 29 votes with a slate nominally favoring Cuyahoga County engineer Albert S. Porter but pledged to Kennedy.

Russia Turns Down Ben-Gurion Visit

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector, (AP) — Moscow has rejected Premier David Ben-Gurion's request to visit the Soviet Union and confer with Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

The negative reply was given to Israel's ambassador in Moscow April 26 by Soviet Deputy Premier Jacob Malik and was reported to the Israeli Cabinet Monday by Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

Malik's oral statement to the Israeli ambassador said, "In view of statements of Israel public figures and even ministers of the government which are not conducive to the furthering of peace, the Soviet government considers that a visit of the Israel Prime Minister to the Soviet Union would be premature."

Funeral Home

with whom Houck has an agreement to buy, are Paul L. A. Keiser and Mrs. Albert Kessler.

BARON KESSLER, Mrs. Kessler's son and her partner in business, presented what the board felt was the most convincing appraisal of the situation.

The residents of the neighborhood who objected said the ground must remain residential.

Kessler said they had the land for sale six months and not a single residential developer had even expressed interest in the property.

"With commercial districts across North Charlotte street, and another at the south border of our land, no residential developer will touch it," Kessler said.

"Keep in mind that any kind of business can move in right beside the lot Houck has in mind. We may someday build a dress shop there, and no one can touch us.

"For this reason, developers are not interested in the Houck area for residential purposes," Kessler said.

KESSLER THEN added an apple for the board's eye when he checked off the names of the individuals near the property in question who had stated no objection to Houck's proposed funeral home.

Other reasons proposed in favor of granting Houck the variance to build commercially in a residential zone were:

Keiser's portion of the property is only 47 feet across the front. Zoning restrictions forbid building in an R-1 residential zone unless the lot is 50 feet wide.

A developer could move in to build the "residential" properties the objectors favor, and the homes could be "trashy" and depreciate nearby properties more so than Houck's operation, if the Houck building would cause depreciation at all.

Since there are commercial areas nearby, the North End property owners must face the possibility new ordinances could enlarge the commercial area in the future.

IN THIS case they would be more secure with a tastefully designed, quiet, responsible funeral home than they would be with a supermarket or such.

A lot had been in controversy over the years, with the board previously refusing a gasoline station and a shopping center.

Ex-President Judge Harold Knight of the county Common Pleas Court sustained the verdict on the service station in 1957.

The objectors pointed to Knight's decision as meaning the land should be strictly residential. The board agreed Knight's decision had reference only to banning a gasoline station.

The Wilke case consumed more than an hour as attorneys Matthew Santangelo and Jesse Beeghley, of Whitemarsh, constructed a picture of what would take place when the children's wear firm moved in.

The Wilke brothers pleaded that loss of business is forcing them out of their Queen street site, and they have been unable to find any buyer except the light manufacturing firm.

SANTANGELO placed a series of restrictions on the firm if the variance is granted to allow light manufacturing in the residential zone.

These include providing off street parking, no night shifts, the beautifying of the exterior of the structure, no extensions of the structure, and allowing residents to use the parking lot Saturdays and Sundays.

Earl R. Favinger, 847 Queen street; Mrs. Carmella Sperat, 868 Queen street, and Clarence Decker, 854 Queen street, spoke in behalf of themselves and other nearby residents.

They agreed to the firm if the restrictions were enforced.

With this case, as in the other which was held over for study, the board's view was:

It must question the propriety of establishing any sort of manufacturing in residential areas, for this could establish a precedent that would cause trouble later.

Manuel M. Berman's request to set up a plastic processing shop at 217 North Franklin street was the other held over for study. The building used to be a produce market, and Berman asks a special exception to change a non-conforming usage to "manufacturing."

Berman would be laminating cards, and the plastic materials he would use are not flammable like celluloid is.

The following are the other requests granted: Mr. and Mrs. Bill will be permitted to establish an apartment house at High and Rosedale drive through a special exception.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Froelich, the only protestants, were assured there would only ever be two apartments there, and this was agreeable to them.

Carl T. Davis, 313 Johnson street, through a variance, will be able to open a shop at his home to sell kitchen ware and Pennsylvania Dutch trinkets.

The storeroom there was formerly John Conrad's produce store, and it is the continuation of a non-conforming use. The store has been vacant five years.

MR. AND MRS. Earl Smith, Rambler avenue and Keim street, will build an addition to their home there after gaining permission under a variance from the board. There were no protestants.

Frank J. Pasquerilla, president of the Crown Construction company, Johnstown, the contractors of the Penney store, was present with Norman A. Krumenacker, his firm's attorney.

The men outlined their plans and said Pottstown should be proud a large business has confidence in the downtown business district.

The problem concerned a requirement that a new building in the downtown area take only 85 percent of the available ground. The Penney store will be allowed to take up the entire lot, as the Strand building did.

EDWARD HOFFMAN, of the New York store, protested to a second variance. The zoning code asks businesses to provide off-street parking in certain circumstances.

The Mared company has not to date provided any plans about off street parking. Hoffman wants Penney's to take part in a mercantile co-operative plan to open a large lot.

"The Penney company here has made absolutely no effort to arrange parking, and has given no co-operation to the plans for a merchants' lot," said Hoffman.

Pasquerilla and Krumenacker told Hoffman they had been authorized to commit Penney's to a portion of the costs of a co-operative lot.

They told Hoffman he could be confident that the Mared company would be perfectly willing to go along with other Pottstown merchants in an off-street parking venture.

The board took only a few moments to decide on the Penney approval.

Defense Alert Is a Fizzle In Pottstown

public participation, it was a good thing.

Though the sirens sounded clearly in the center of Pottstown, outlying districts and drivers who had the windows of their cars rolled up were often unable to hear them.

At major thoroughfares in Pottstown, traffic stopped only where police officers ordered them to do so. Side street traffic and traffic on major roads leading into the city was uninterrupted.

Pedestrians were no better than drivers, and at times seemed even more apathetic to the sirens that sounded the take cover signals. Few headed for protection in doorways, and many already inside stores hurried out to see what was happening.

Across from the borough hall, operation headquarters for the local civil defense staff, one group of people continued their conversations in a louder voice to make themselves heard over the wailing sirens.

THOSE WHO did duck into doorways couldn't refrain from peeking out to see what was happening in other doorways and with traffic.

One Route 100 in Pughtown, traffic went on as usual, and on Route 422 and Route 83, traffic only slowed as it neared town and the line of police-halted automobiles.

But it was the ineffectiveness of the Conelrad warning system that was a glaring deficiency. The system was designed to be the public's main source of survival information—but in Pottstown the two Conelrad stations were unintelligible.

The system operates so that in case of enemy attack, all radio and television stations go off the air. Certain stations in each area then tune to the Conelrad frequencies—640 and 1240—from which all survival information would be broadcast.

THE FAULT in the system will constitute the major portion of Heilman's report at a critique set for local directors in Montgomery county on May 13 in Norristown.

The alert Tuesday was intended to give to the public information typical of the type that would be disseminated during a real attack.

Heilman admitted he did not know why the information typical of that during a real attack was not given on the local Conelrad stations. He termed the system here "zero effective."

Another fault of the warning system showed up during the test. Drivers who were not in the center of an urban area were often unable to hear the signals. One of those who reported this was Heilman himself.

During the alert he was driving through town to spot check the effectiveness of the alert, and failed to hear the alert or all clear signals.

COMING DOWN—This huge crane is like an angry giant at a big task. It is demolishing the Strand theater, but doing so with the utmost care. The Strand, High and North Charlotte streets, is at one of Pottstown's busiest corners. Road blocks keep autos and pedestrians at a safe distance, but a wrong flip by the mechanical monster could send brick and steel flying a great distance. The tedious task of ripping down the theater is expected to last weeks longer. Work is being done by Crown Construction company, Johnstown, and by Nicholas Yaculak, 830 South street. The site will house the new J. C. Penney Company store.

Local Mother, 92, Recalls Trips by Horse and Buggy

ard Fry, of Oneonta, N. Y. Except for Daniel, the whole family will be here to celebrate Mother's Day.

Mother doesn't think there's any special formula to a long life, except for being a good Christian woman."

Mrs. Keck attends church services and Sunday school every Sunday at Grace Lutheran church, where she is the Senior member.

"I haven't missed a day in the last year," she says proudly. "We just won't count the blizzard."

SHE WAS born in New Hanover, the daughter of the late Jonas and Emeline Christman. She remembers with pleasure the Sunday afternoon horse and buggy trips she and her husband would take to see her parents.

"It would take us about an hour and the area was all farmland then. It was beautiful," she remembers.

"She still does a lot of housework and cooking," Miriam explains. "She used to do crocheting and needlework, but in recent years her eyes have gone bad."

Because her eyes are bad, she is unable to watch television.

SHE SNORTED when asked whether she smoked, and laughed when questioned whether she ever had a drink.

"She takes very good care of herself," Miriam interjected.

The old scrubbing board was one of her pet banes, she noted, demonstrating how you had to rub the clothes up and down. She's glad to see all the modern conveniences of today, but fears that it has made life too easy.

"It was harder to live then," she said, "but it is harder to raise a family today.

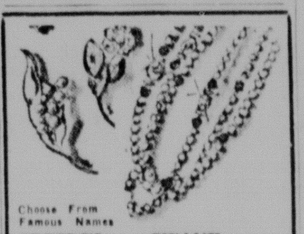

She denied that anything exciting had ever happened to her. "All the excitement I needed was raising a family," she laughed. But she does remember with especial pleasure the trip she and her late husband had taken to California in 1921.

"It was a wonderful trip. We saw just everything."

board during the three hour meeting, that "the inclusion of the Eastern Pennsylvania chapter into the United Fund of Pottstown infers that Pottstown is assuming some of the financial burden in attacking a national problem."

He explained that of the allocated monies, "36 percent goes to our national program, mainly for the research into the causes and cures of arthritis."

* * *

THE CEREBRAL Palsey association was represented at the hearing by H. Francis DeLone, a member of the organization's board of directors.

DeLone told the board that "the actual cost to UCPA for services provided for the cerebral palsied children and adults of the Pottstown area is far in excess of the monies we have received from the United Fund of Pottstown and vicinity.

THE UCPA presented the board 15 pages of facts and figures to support their oral arguments, and the Rheumatism and Arthritis foundation supported their oral arguments with nine pages of information.

The Red Cross, seeking the largest single allocation, presented a chart outlining the services of the Northren branch, South-eastern Pennsylvania chapter. Oral arguments for the organization were preesnted by Pottstown attorney Matthew S. Santangelo. In his request for a 10 percent increase, he noted that in the period from July 1, 1958 to April 12, 1960, the following services had been performed:

Nearly 2500 pints of blood had been collected and 1135 pints of blood distributed.

Nearly 900 hours were served in camps and hospitals.

Nearly 750 hours were served in canteens.

More than 1400 hours of service had been donated by Gray Ladies.

Nearly 15,000 miles were driven in 1500 hours of service.

Nearly 2500 hours of nursing, staff aid and home service were recorded by social welfare aides.

Chinese Pop Flops

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Hungarians don't like a soft drink imported from Communist China, the Budapest newspaper Hetfoei Hirek reports.

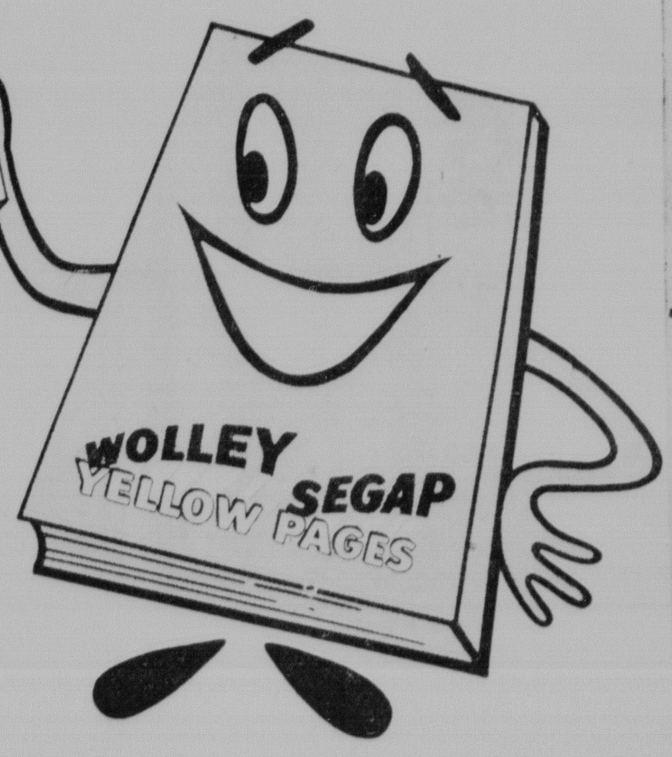

For years, it had been the "dream of the admirers of everything foreign in our country," said the paper. "But it has not become a hit."

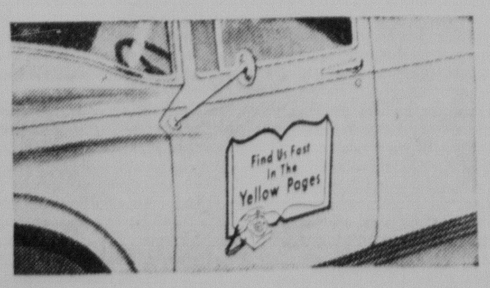

The paper said Hungarian bottling plants were ordered to pep up the flavor of the Chinese product. They plan to bring out the drink in eight different tastes, including chocolate, coffee, cherry and rum.

WHAT WOMEN ARE DOING

Emerging Tribes of Liberia Pictured By Missionary for Christ Church Group

By ESTHER GRAY
(Mercury Society Editor)

As modern communications, machines and electric power become available in hitherto isolated sections of Africa, tribal peoples living for centuries in primitive conditions suddenly traverse thousands of years of developing civilization and are plunged into the technology of today.

That the isolated mission station has been paving the way, was demonstrated by the Rev. Raymond A. Gill of the Order of the Holy Cross when he spoke Tuesday evening to Christ Episcopal Church Women's association of the mission at Bolshun, Liberia, where he has served for seven years.

When the mission was established in 1924 it was completely isolated, the only access to the high plateau country was by footpath and the tribes the Fathers of Holy Cross went to teach were living by the taboos and superstitions of their ancestors.

In 1953 the mission pioneered with jeep trails and then truck trails. Father Gill pointed out everything, roads, buildings and the air strip, completed two years ago, are do-it-yourself projects.

Father Gill related an incident of building the jeep road that indicated it takes time and patience to induce a tribal native to accept a new idea. After four years of negotiation the owner of a thatch roofed hut of dried mud brick, that with another of the same construction caused a bottle neck in the road, agreed to move his home so the road might be widened.

It takes 8 years of training before the missionaries are sure enough of the stability of their Christian converts to accept them into the church.

There is two years of training in the Old Testament, six more years before they are examined on the catchisim and two years of probation in which to prove they have but one wife, and have given up witchcraft, superstition and resorting to divination.

He pointed out the entire background and customs of the tribal Africians is foreign to Christianity. They have believed in many gods since time began.

"They are going through the throes of a first generation in a civilized society," he said, "and one can never be quite sure how deep is their acceptance of the Christian training and way of life."

The mission serves the needs of their bodies and minds as well as souls. St. Mary's Episcopal church, which centers the mission, is the largest in Liberia.. St. Joseph's hospital provides the only medical, surgical and laboratory service for an area of several hundred square miles.

The eight schools operated by the mission, five of them "outstation tribal" centers, provides an education for about 500 boys and girls. The children are instructed until the Fourth grade in the tribal schools, then sent to boarding school at the mission.

Teaching of English, the government language, is begun in the out-station schools. Father Gill said it is a beginning in breaking down tribal distinctions. However in the mission each tribe has its own section. The women and girls must attend separate schools from the men and boys and must sit in separate sections in church.

Bowing to the new order of things, high school boys and girls are permitted to attend a dance, well chaperoned, once a month.

A "sound" four year high school curriculum is offered both boys and girls. Father Gill noted the number of girls completing the course is small because the Africans in Bolshun do not see the need of highly educated women.

Agriculture, blacksmithing and weaving are the industries. They mine their own ore, smelt it and shape it into needed tools. Cotton for weaving is grown in the home garden and prepared for weaving by the women, but the men do the weaving.

Agriculture is of the "slash and burn" variety, Father Gill said. Crops are limited and only enough rice is prepared for each meal. Recently the "money" crop of coffee has been added to native agriculture.

The diet is extremely low in protein, but recently begun cattle raising will help alleviate the deficiency.

Child mortality is extremely high, 75 percent of the infants born dying before they reach 10 years of age. There is no milk except what has been provided through the U.S. surplus food program.

The medical staff at St. Joseph's finds it difficult to diagnose the natives who come to them for help, Father Gill said, for Africans are extremely polite and answer yes to all questions.

Also, they feel that after their long trip through the bush they have the right to ask for the medication they want. Hypodermic injections are most popular for they believe the illness can escape through the little hole.

Liberia, about the size of Connecticut, is the oldest independent nation of Africa, having been founded 100 years ago by liberated slaves from the United States.

Father Gill said the president welcomes anyone who will do good for the country. There are 9000 Europeans in Liberia. A three lane truck highway has just been completed with money from the United States.

By that road, Bolshon is 285 miles from Monrovia, the capital of Liberia. When Father Gill traveled the road on his way home for leave he noted an engineering firm from Iowa surveying for hydro-electric plants.

It is one of the amusing contradictions to Africa, he said, a village lighted by palm oil goes from that to the newest type of electric systems almost overnight.

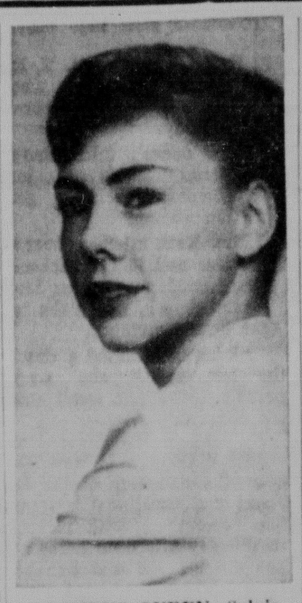

In the course of his talk, illustrated with colored slides, the monk mentioned a Clement Kimba, trained at the mission, who aspires to the priesthood.

At conclusion of the meeting in the parish house, the association voted a donation of $200 to further Clement's education at a seminary. The mission guild gave the missionary a dozen altar cloths to take back to St. Mary's church. He will leave for Africa May 18.

Mrs. William C. Lawrence introduced the speaker.

During the business meeting, reports were heard from the prayer guild, misson guild and parish guild. Refreshments were served by the mission guild.

Father Gill was house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Snyder, Reiffton, during his visit here. He was entertained at dinner before the meeting by Mrs. William E. Mills, Welch court.

She must continue to grow and learn, must have definite goals and ability to make quick decisions, she must be understanding.

Clothes Care

By Maurice Miller

"Why Should I Dryclean 'Wash and Wear' Clothing?"—Mrs. G. B. P.

Dear Mrs. G. B. P.:

Many home-makers have learned "wash and wear" garments have some shortcomings in spite of their virtures. Anyone can do a fair job of soil-removal at home, but stain-removal does require professional handling. Stains not removed professionally have been found to be much more difficult, if not impossible to remove later by drycleaning. The heat of pressing usually sets the stain.

Home-makers have found, too, that wrinkles created in "wash and wear" fabrics by faulty pressing were practically set and could not be removed later even by professional handling. Wrinkling permanently affects the fiber structure of "wash and wear." Also, some "wash and wear" fabrics and linings when laundered at home, have been known to "bleed", and some linings and threads shrink, causing mis-shapen garments. There have been other bothersome inconveniences in home laundering that have turned home-makers to having their "wash and wear" garments drycleaned.

Many such garments are delightful and most convenient, especially in Summer. They may hold their shape longer in a sudden shower. They may not appear soiled, but remember, Summer soil, perspiration and bacteria are there just the same. Home handling will not sterilize "wash and wear" as drycleaning does. The truth is, Mrs. G.B.P., handling "wash and wear" at home is more of a "bother" and not as satisfactory as drycleaning.

If you have been disappointed in your home handling of these garments why not try our professional care.

DOROTHY SIMONS

IF Mother is sweet as candy, remember her on Mother's Day with candy! Make it a special treat of the finest, freshest candy of all, Loft's. Whether it's a large luxurious box of chocolates or a small box of mints topped with a pretty china mint dish, Mother will love the sweet thoughts behind your candy gift! And the delicious Summer selection is as lovely to look at as it is to taste! Appropriate gifts that appeal to Mother's good taste can be found at the attractive display of Loft's fine candies on the main floor of the

NEW YORK STORE, High at Penn street. Little Aristocrats are $1.79 for one pound, $3.58 for two pounds. A special one and a quarter pound box is just $2. Mother will enjoy the "warm weather" variety of candy in each box! Small boxes of thin mints are available with mint dishes and cups and saucers in a lovely array of "one of a kind" styles. They are $1.89. The Loft display of candy is priced from $1 to $3.58. I visited The New York Store's lingerie department and found the prettiest group of coordinated sleepwear! By Youtheme these pajamas, capri pajamas, waltz gowns and dusters are in a matching pattern of embroidered strawberries on white. Vivid red borders peter pan collar and front, and you'll love the embroidered "strawberry" trim! Just to prove to you that this is a practical gift, the fabric is a fine wash 'n wear type that is carefree and lovely! Buy them separately or as a matched set at popular prices, they are available in all sizes. A Summer handbag is a welcome gift for Mother's Day. The New York Store has as pretty an assortment as you'll find anywhere! I particularly like the very new "marshmallow" bags, white and bone. There are many lovely plastic bags and many have the "flower under glass" effect, with lace or linen. Straw handbags are available in every size in both soft and hard straw. Patent leather is always a favorite, The New York Store has these as well as beaded handbags, leather styles and tapestry. Prices range from $2.95 (with a good assortment at that price) to $10.95. A gift of fragrance is especially wonderful when the name is "Red Roses" by Yardley! This is the most realistic fragrance I've ever found—it actually makes you see red roses! Mother will love the clever set cologne and perfume in a rose trimmed package at $1.65. There are spray mists at $2 and $3.25, cologne at $2, a box of soap at $1.50, Dusting powder at $2, Talc at $1.25, Perfume at $1, Sachet at $1.50 and a very generous special offer of a 16 ounce bottle of after bath fragrance regularly $3.50 for only $2. Red Roses for Mother? She'll really love it! Don't forget her Mother's Day card from The New York Store's large display. There are cards of all types to and from every member of the family (almost!) and there are some clever "studio" cards for the Mother who loves a hearty laugh! No matter what type Mother you have—modern, old - fashioned, sentimental, sophisticated, or just plain WONDERFUL—find her very special personalized gift, gift wrapped with love, from The New York Store!

Many women think they have to travel to the big cities to find a large selection of better fashions. This just is not true! No matter what your size or individual preference may be you can find not just a few dresses, but many—a delightful variety of styles, fabrics and silhouettes, if you visit the glamorous.

BURTON'S, 215 High street. I was very surprised to find that this store compares favorably with high fashion stores of large cities. They carry a balanced selection of party dresses, formals, casual dresses, coordinates and graduation dresses in a group of famous fashion names that you recognize and love. Burton's retain the individuality of their collection by never stocking more than one of a style in a size, and usually that style is in other colors in other sizes! This means that when you buy a good dress at Burton's you will have it almost exclusively in this area! Right now you'll find fashions straight from the pages of your favorite magazines by R & K Originals, Mr. Mort, Arkay, Susan Thomas,, Country Set, Sue Brett and many, many more. The collection of dresses at Burton's is priced from $17.98 to $49.98 and they are in sizes 5 to 15, 10 to 20 and a talented group of Junior Petites. I was really surprised when I visited Burton's to find this beautiful array of fresh fashions, and to learn that I might select from as many as one hundred and sixty different styles in my own size! I'm sure you will be as pleasantly surprised as I was when you visit Burton's! (Of course, they have the regular 30 day charge as well as the optional charge with as long as five months to pay.) Remember MOTHER with a gift of FASHION from Burton's!

Surprise her on MOTHER'S DAY!

WALTERS SLAM IN 9TH ENDS UPHILL TEST

Reliefer Jack Meyer Notches First Win Of Season

CHICAGO (AP) — Rookie outfielder Ken Walters' first major league home run, a drive over the left field screen with one out in the ninth, carried the Philadelphia Phillies to a 10-9 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

The victory enabled the Phillies to smash a six-game losing streak and gave them a split in the two-game series.

It was an uphill triumph for the Phillies, who had to overcome a 5-0 deficit to gain their sixth victory in the season's first 17 games. Seth Morehead, formerly a pitcher for the Phillies, served the "gopher" to Walters.

Jack Meyer, second of three Philadelphia pitchers, held the Cubs to three hits over a five-inning span to earn his first win of the year.

Meyer got into the game after the Cubs chased basketball star Gene Conley, making his first start of the year. Conley pitched just two innings, yielding five hits and five runs. One of these was the first of Frank Thomas' two homers.

The Phillies edged close with three runs in the fourth, and went ahead with six in the fifth when the Cubs called on four pitchers to get the side out. Starter Art Ceccarelli was the first to exit, and before the Phillies were finally stopped, Glen Hobbie, Moe Drabowsky and Ben Johnson were called into action.

Wally Post's two-run single was one highlight of the spurt. Also in the inning, Drabowsky wild-pitched a run in and walked Jim Coker with the bases full.

Thereafter Johnson and Morehead silenced the Phillies until Walters walloped the winning run in the ninth.

Good Right Arm of Law

Hottest pitcher in baseball today is Vernon Sanders Law, the Pirates' righthander, who already has notched four straight victories as he leads the Bucs to the National league top spot. Law, who is 30, is in his ninth season with the Pirates. He had an 18-9 mark last year.

Red Sox Shade A's, 4-3 On Norm Siebern Error

BOSTON (AP)—Norm Siebern's throwing error in a 10th inning bunt by Pete Runnels let in the winning run Tuesday as Boston edged Kansas City 4-3 when Don Buddin raced home from second base.

Runnels dragged a bunt down the first base line and Siebern moved in to field it. The bespectacled A's infielder set for his lob throw with plenty of time but overshot Jerry Lumpe who was covering the bag.

Buddin had doubled off loser Bud Daley to open the Red Sox 10th.

Starting pitchers Jerry Casale of the Red Sox and Ray Herbert of the A's, who entered the contest with identical 2-0 records, weren't around at the finish.

Casale, who had a four-hitter through seven innings and had put Boston ahead 3-2 with a slashing single, was yanked when Kansas City got to him for a walk and single in the eighth.

Siebern, who faced reliever Ted Bowsfield, benefitted from an error which chased home a tying run. Sox first baseman Rong. Jackson threw wildly past third trying to pick off Lumpe on Siebern's sacrifice bunt.

Boston scored twice in the fifth on Bobby Thomson's sacrifice fly and rookie Lou Clinton's double.

Bob Cerv hit his third homer of the season in the third inning for Kansas City. It was the 13th homer for the A' this season and all of them have come with the bases empty.

Doubles by Bill Tuttle and Siebern accounted for a run in the sixth.

Bill Monbouquette, who came in after Bowsfield had faced only Siebern, allowed two singles in three innings while getting credit for the victory.

Golden Cubs Pound Out 13-3 Triumph Over Phoenixville

PHOENIXVILLE — A six-run first inning sent Pottstown Junior High's baseballers off and winging to a 13-3 win over Phoenixville here Tuesday.

The Golden Cubs jolted starter Bill Wickward for four hits, including back-to-back triples by Ron Hallman and Mush Bechtel, and were aided by two Phoenixville miscues as they pushed across the sextet of markers.

Karl Schoellkopf's long two-run homer in the second added to the Cub total and four in the fourth and singleton in the seventh completed the winners' runmaking.

Neil Dennis hurled six innings to pick up the win. Hallman, who had five hits in as many trips, relieved the tiring Dennis in the seventh.

Tom Yashura took over for Wickward in the fourth and limited the Cubs to one run in three and two-thirds innings.

Comedown

—Mercury Sportsphoto

Lansdale Central Catholic first baseman Randy Rosenberger is shown striking out in the fifth inning of Tuesday's St. Pius X-Crusader clash at Memorial park. It was quite a comedown for Rosenberger who homered in the first with two aboard to lead the Crusaders to a 7-5 win. Others in the photo are Saint catcher Joe Wambach and plate umpire John Wiley.

GOETTER PEGS 4-HITTER AT ST. PIUS X 9

Four-Run First Inning Leads to Michmen Downfall

By DUKE DeLUCA
(Mercury Sports Writer)

"We'll win one of these days," Jim Mich said Tuesday after his St. Pius X Saints had just failed their third Suburban Catholic league test.

"I've worked them especially hard in practice and revamped the lineup but still no results." continued the first-year mentor who is probably more hungry for that elusive inital victory than his forces seem to be.

Mich's post-mortem lament struck a note of optimism as he picked up the bat bag. "Who knows, maybe we'll make Bishop Shanahan our first victim."

The Saints meet Shanahan at West Chester this coming Friday and it could be a day of firsts for both the coach and the Keim streeters as their Tuesday setback at Memorial park was closer than the two-run margin shows.

LANSDALE CATHOLIC CENTRAL edged the Saints, 7-5, but the losers displayed comeback ability that was sadly lacking in their earlier losses to Bishop Kenrick and St. Matthew's.

Kenrick inflicted a 15-5 defeat and the Consohocken Saints had all their own way in a 9-0 fiasco.

Four runs in the first inning turned the trick for the Crusaders Tuesday. The Saints outscored them, 5-3, in the remaining rounds and came dangerously close to squaring the issue in the fourth.

They hadn't had a nibble off Crusader righthander Paul Goetter although one run was in the hopper. Two Lansdale miscues and a wild pitch gave the Saints a second-inning marker.

IN THE fourth, Goetter's no-hitter went up in smoke as the homesters put together two singles and an enemy error to score three times.

St. Pius X made two more hits and another run off Goetter in the fifth but a long home run by Goetter himself and a seventh tally in the sixth kept the Crusaders on top.

Don Kalavik, making his first start of the season, held the visitors to just one hit—Goetter's homer—after the first inning.

Kalavik, a righthander, set down 12 Crusaders on strikes and deserved a better fate in the fateful first.

* * *

HIS OWN wildness put him in hot water but the boiling point could have been averted with some heady play behind him.

Kalavik walked leadoff batter Tom Welsh and Tom O'connor solved him for a single to deep short after Ken Stutz hesitated too long to make a play.

Goetter hit a lazy pop behind short which Dennis Psota dropped and Welsh scampered home. Randy Rosenberger followed with a distant roundtripper to deep right center and the Crusaders had a 4-0 front.

Geotter whiffed 11 in chalking up his third triumph. He stayed ahead of the batters all afternoon and walked but one. D. Psota was his only source of woe. The Saints' lefthander had two of his team's hits and drove in a pair in the third.

Homers Propel Redlegs Past Los Angeles, 5-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Home runs by Frank Robinson and Dutch Dotterer propelled Cincinnati to a 5-3 victory over Los Angeles Tuesday night in a game marked by a bean-balling beef against Dodger pitcher Stan Williams.

Williams drew a rebuke from Umpire Tony Venzon after hitting Vada Pinson and wild pitching over Robinson's head in the seventh inning.

Right-hander Jay Hook was touched for two home runs by Don Demeter but otherwise kept the Dodgers generally under control until he was lifted in the ninth. He gave up 10 hits, struck out nine and walked three.

Robinson broke a 1-1 tie when he smashed his fifth homer in the sixth with Gus Bell aboard.

Dotterer also drove in two runs, one with his homer in the third and the other with a double in the fifth.

Pinson, who put Dodger pitcher Roger Craig out of action for two months by knocking him down at home plate Monday night, had to get out of the way of several pitches.

In the seventh Pinson was struck by one of Williams' pitches and one out later he scored when Williams threw the ball over Robinson's head and into the backstop. Umpire Venzon stalked out to talk to Williams, shaking a finger at him, and players from both sides swarmed around home plate.

The gathering was dispersed, however, with no exchanges of blows.

Hook, making his first appearance against the Dodgers, evened his record at 2-2.

SPRING-FORD POSTS FOURTH C-M WIN, 6-3

Jack Williams Homers As Winners Square League Log

WEST CHESTER — Spring-Ford's Rams evened their Upper section, Ches-Mont league record and moved up a notch in the standings by topping West Chester's Warriors, 6-3, here Tuesday.

The Rams now own a 4-4 mark and a share of third place alongside Owen J. Roberts. They trail co-leaders Pottstown and Phoenixville by the slim margin of one game.

Joe Guber, with help from Augie Krause, stopped the Warriors for his second win against one loss. Guber gave up seven hits in four and two-thirds innings and Krause turned in a slick one-hit job over the last two and one-third.

Jack Miller, the second of three West Chester pitchers, was charged with the loss. Miller relieved first-time starter Randy Sweet in the top of the first with two on and no one out. He managed to retire the Rams without a run in the first but was lifted after he allowed a run in the third and three in the fourth. Workhorse Larry Cox moped up and was the victim of two more Spring-Ford tallies in the sixth.

* * *

THE WARRIORS took a one-run lead on Guber in the first, but the Rams matched it in the third on Jack Williams' homer.

The fourth-inning Ram rally included three singles, a West Chester error and a squeeze bunt by Guber.

West Chester made things interesting with singletons in the fourth and fifth, but Spring-Ford registered two insurance runs in the sixth.

Walt Faddis reached second on Bob Chester's miscue and came all the way home on a Paul Youngblud single. Youngblud stole second and came in on Denny Ferguson's one-base blow to right.

Ursinus Thinclads Outscore PMC

Vern Morgan led Ursinus' thinclads to a 76-50 win over Penn Military college Tuesday at Collegeville.

The speedy cinderman annexed the mile, two-mile and 880 events as the Bears racked up their first track success of the year after four straight losses.

Besides Morgan's trio of first, Ursinus picked up six other wins in accumulating its winning total.

Triple winner for Penn was George Muhesan who captured the 100, 220 and 440 tests.

The Bears' Russ Walton grabbed a pair of field event triumphs. He led the javelin competition and came back to take discus first.

BLAZERS TOP OLEY BY 3-1

Feick Hurls Four-Hitter To Gain Third Victory

A pair of second-inning runs on a steal and squeeze play gave Daniel Boone's Blazers their fourth Berks conference victory of the season Monday, 3-1 over Oley on the Amity diamond.

It also brought the men of Bob Illig back over the .500 mark with a 4-3 slate as right-handed speedballer Melvin Feick outdueled Dick Kauffman of the Lynx in a battle of four-hitters.

Feick, while winning his third straight game, brought his normal wildness under control and fanned seven batters while walking nobody. His shutout was spoiled by an unearned run in the seventh.

Meanwhile the Blazers got to Kauffman in the second when Mallison, who had walked and advanced on a single by George Badrow, stole home. Badrow was squeezed in by Tom Grubb.

THE BLAZERS got an insurance tally in the fifth when Dewey doubled to score David Focht, who had walked and stole second.

Kauffman in defeat, could only look to his only two free tickets, which the Blazers converted to runs. The Lynx lone tally scored on a triple by Joe Scheetz and an outfield error by Johnson, who dropped Lou Knechtle's fly ball.

Green's 9th-Frame Blow Enables Washington to Nip Indians, 7-6

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lenny Green's one-out, ninth-inning single drove across the winning run Tuesday night as Washington edged Cleveland 7-6.

It was the third time the Senators led in the game played before 7,256 fans.

Washington jumped off to a 4-0 lead in the first. Cleveland whittled away and finally tied in the sixth and took a 5-4 lead in the seventh. Washington moved ahead with a pair in the eighth, but the Indians tied it again in the ninth.

In 13 games Washington has played, 11 have been decided by one run. The Senators have won five of them.

Earl Battey opened the Washington ninth with a single. Don Mincher laid down a bunt and both runners were safe on an attempted force at second. Green, who had been a pinch runner in the eighth, then lofted a fly ball into right which dropped in for the winning hit.

Tito Francona's hitting kept Cleveland in the game. He entered the game as a pinch hitter in the third inning and drove in a run with an outfield fly. Francona doubled and scored the tying run in the sixth, singled to drive in a run in the seventh and doubled in the tying run in the ninth.

Cleveland had won five straight.

BEARS FIRST IN TRI-TRACK

Boyertown Cindermen Top Muhlenberg, Wilson On Home Soil

Boyertown High's thinclads employed depth and five first places to score 66½ points and win a triangular track meet from Muhlenberg and Wilson on the Bear cinders Monday.

Muhlenberg's 51 points was good enough for second. Wilson, of West Lawn, scored 22½.

Running times were comparatively slow on a warm afternoon ideally suited for track, but the big surprise of the day was John Rowland's victory over defending Berks county hurdles champ Chris Weber.

Rowland stepped the 120-yard lows in 14.9 seconds to edge out the Muhl flash. There were no high hurdles or high jump in the meet.

The Bears' Bob Stringfellow also broke five minutes for the first time this year to win the mile in 4:57 flat to dominate the running events.

The other two clubs fared better in the field events, especially Wilson, who picked up the bulk of its points there.

Chisox Tame Birds for Sole Roof Spot

BALTIMORE (AP) —Chicago ace Billy Pierce picked on a favorite target Tuesday night, pitching the White Sox to a 5-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Chicago took over undisputed possession of first place in the American League when Cleveland dropped out of a tie by losing to Washington 7-6. The Indians are now third, a game out of first and a half-game behind second-place New York.

The curve-balling left-hander, winning his second straight over the full distance, notched his 20th lifetime triumph over the Orioles, who have beaten him only six times. He lost one this season prior to beating Cleveland and Baltimore.

The White Sox backed him up with a well-balanced 12-hit attack that included four doubles and excellent clutch hitting.

Chicago got off to a 4-0 lead, scoring a pair in each of the second and third innings.

In the second, Roy Sievers was safe at first on Ron Hansen's error, Gene Freese doubled him home, and Jim Landis singled, scoring Freese.

Nellie Fox and Minnie Minoso hit back-to-back doubles in the third and Sievers singled, for two more runs. A two-bagger by Luis Aparicio in the seventh with two out, followed by Fox's single, accounted for the other Sox run.

Steve Barber, 21-year-old Baltimore rookie left-hander suffered his first defeat. He has won one.

Three Yank Homers Wreck Tigers, 10-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Skowron, Roger Maris and pinch hitter Kent Hadley hammered home runs and Art Ditmar and Ryne Duren turned in fine relief performances as the New York Yankees inflicted the seventh straight defeat on the Detroit Tigers Tuesday 10-3.

Four Tiger pitchers were victims of the Yankees' 14-hit attack which included three doubles and a triple besides the three home runs.

Skowron, hottest New York hitter with a .458 batting average, had a double besides his fifth four-bagger of the season which tied him for the league lead with Cleveland's Woodie Held.

Don Mossi, veteran left-hander who whipped the Yankees six times in eight decisions last year, bore the brunt of the Yankees attack. He yielded six hits and five runs before the Yankees knocked him out in the fifth when they scored three runs to break a 2-2 tie.

Pete Burnside, Bob Bruce and Dave Sisler followed Mossi to the mound.

Whitey Ford started for the Yankees but had to leave after the first inning when he complained of a tightening in his pitching elbow. The Tigers rapped the southpaw for four of their nine hits, good for two runs and an early 2-0 lead.

Ditmar took over in the second inning and was credited with the victory, his first of the season. The right-hander gave up five hits and one run in five innings. Duren hurled the last three innings and did not allow a hit.

Lower Moreland Nips Pottsgrove

LOWER MORELAND — Lower Moreland Junior High took undisputed possession of first place in the Central Montco league Tuesday by edging visiting Pottsgrove, 2-1.

Both owned a share of the loop lead with 2-0 marks prior to Tuesday's clash.

Jack Pearson went the route for the winners. He allowed Pottsgrove four hits and a single run in the sixth.

Jim Armstrong, the loser, limited Lower Moreland to just four hits, but two fourth-inning markers spelled his doom.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

WELL, SHIVER MY TIMBERS if another of those wandering Martians hasn't popped up in town! This one landed in the lower East Side of Manhattan and came in with such a bump that his left front tire blew out. Across the street, however, he saw the well-stocked window of a delicatessen, and decided that the bagels hanging from a cord were just the right size for his left front wheel.

"Give me one of those tires in your window," he ordered the proprietor. "Those aren't tires," snapped the proprietor. "They're bagels."

"You've lost me," confessed the Martian.

"Bagels! Bagels!" repeated the proprietor. "You eat them. Like this." He stuffed a piece of bagel in the Martian's mouth. The Martian chewed thoughtfully for a moment, and then his face lit up.

"Say," he enthused, "You know what these would taste wonderful with? Lox and sour cream!"

TAX BOOST IS OKAYED BY BOARD

West Pikeland Increases Millage

NEW BUILDING FORCES INCREASE

A 5 mill real estate tax increase is programmed for West Pikeland township and will boost the school board budget approximately $7500 for the 1960-61 school year.

The board tentatively adopted a budget with receipts of $73,574 and expenses of $70,181 Monday night.

The proposed increase would raise the township's real estate tax to 30 mills. The board also plans to reassess $15 per capita and 1 percent of real estate transfer. These rates are unchanged from the present taxes.

An increase in capital indebtedness resulting from construction of a new high school by the Downingtown jointure was cited as the cause for the increase by Ford T. Cage, secretary.

THE BUDGET, to be considered finally for adoption on June 6 forecasts a balance of $3,392 at the end of the fiscal year—June 30, 1961.

Major expenses items are: $32,643 tution to the Downingtown Joint district (an increase of about $4500 over 1959-60); $12,446 for bonded indebtedness; $12,735 for teachers salaries; $3800 for transportation; $1900 for maintenance of property, etc.

In another matter the board granted permission for the PTA to take sixth grade pupils on a sightseeing trip in Philadelphia later in the month.

Brisk Stock Market Bounce Fails To Change Some Dark Opinions

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's brisk bounce Tuesday failed to change the opinion of some experts that a drop to a new 1960 low is expectable.

The rally followed Monday's halt by the Dow Jones industrial average at 599.61, just short of the March 8 low of 599.10.

Lester Wyetzner, analyst for Bache & Co., remarked that after losing 40 points on the industrial average between April 18 and Monday, the market was entitled to a rally.

* * *

"But today's rebound was nothing more than technical," he said. "The basic technical measurements show no basis for a rally."

Wyetzner said he believed the indusstrial average would hit a new low within the next two or three weeks.

"The market still is in a downtrend," said William R. White of Hornblower & Weeks. "The rally wasn't of a type that will help restore confidence."

He expressed the opinion that the lows would be tested and broken before the week is over.

However, he said, "that won't be of any great significance and may clear the air for a traditional summer rise."

The brokerage house, J. R. Williston & Beane, forecasts a healthy economy for the rest of this year and into 1961.

If the manufacturing industry now is adjusting to normalcy, the firm says, "we could be approaching a period of sustained production—sales and earnings sustained not on a basis of a boom psychology but on the basis of healthy competition."

Williston & Beane said it would be reasonable to project an economy growing steadily, rather than with leaps and bounds, and reflected in a stock market emphasizing good value and reasonable income instead of the "specialty markets" seen in recent months.

* * *

The firm suggests the automated record-keeping industry as one with enough potentialities for selective consideration. It says one way to participate in the accelerating trend toward machine record-keeping without staking everything on a single manufacturer's system is to buy stocks of independent manufacturers of supplies and forms.

Common stock investors have been expecting too much and are disappointed, comments L. O. Hooper of W. E. Hutton & Co.

"Business is not really bad but it is not as good as expected, and it is not booming," he says. "This generation of traders is accustomed only to boom.

"Moderately lower prices by midsummer seem logical."

3 TEACHERS ARE HIRED BY AREA BOARD

Vincent Schoolmen Award Oil Contract

Three new teachers were hired by the Vincent township Consolidated School board Monday night.

Sara Kemp was appointed music teacher and the board hired Maryanne Murphy as Second grade teacher and Joseph Dawson as Fifth grade teacher.

The resignations of Mrs. Mary Lou Davis, First grade, and Florence Beard, Second grade, were accepted. The school is looking for a Kindergarten teacher.

The board awarded a contract for fuel oil to L. A. Swann, Sassamansville and a $1007 contract to L. B. Herr company, Lancaster, for general supply.

The school calendar for 1960-61 was adopted. School will start Sept. 7 and end June 14 with Christmas vacation set for Dec. 23 through Jan. 2.

Open House Set At Pennhurst

This year's annual open house at Pennhurst State school, Spring City, will be Saturday, in observance of Mental Health Week.

The public was invited to visit the grounds, take tours from 10 to 11 a.m. and 2 to 3:30 p.m. and see a May Day program staged by patients from 1 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This residential facility is maintained by the State of Pennsylvania and provides lodging, food, clothing, medical and psychological care, education, vocational training and recreation for 3118 retarded persons from all walks of life and all counties of the state.

Music Groups Prepare Program

The Schwenksville school's musical organizations are putting final touches on their annual program to be presented in the multi-purpose room Saturday at 8 p.m.

The Spring program will consist of several instrumental selections by the High school band, vocal selections by the girls' glee club with additional musical presentations by featured pupil vocalists, specialty dance numbers by a group of high school girls.

As an added highlight of the evening, two-piano selections will be played by Alden G. Biely, music supervisor of the school and Barbara C. Hartenbauer, organ and piano instructor residing in the community. The entire program is under the direction of Biely and Frank A. Lawrence, instrumnetal teacher at the Schwenksville school.

South Coventry Sets Budget

The South Coventry school board held the line on taxes and tentatively adopted a budget totaling $115,055 at its regular meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Claire Mann, vice president, presided during the session because of the absence of President Harry Symons.

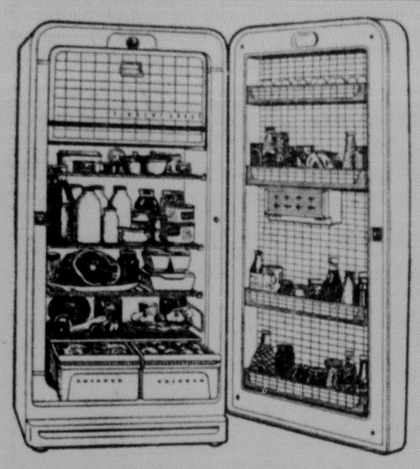

The board approved real estate and occupation taxes, each totaling 26 mills, a $10 per capita levy and a 1 percent real estate transfer tax. The transfer tax is split with the township road board. All taxes are the same as for the 1959-60 school year.

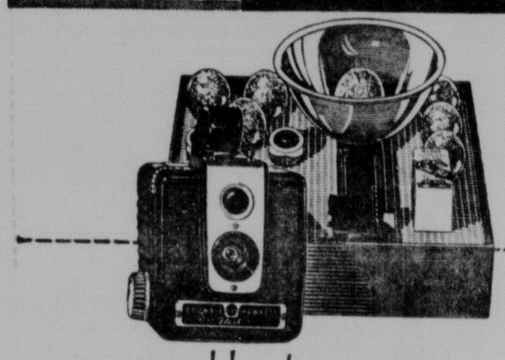

The budget includes payment of $47,700 to the French Creek Valley Joint district as the South Coventry elementary school expense for the year, and $64,370 to the Northern Chester County Joint board for secondary school expenses.

Maintained in the South Coventry account is $3825 for expenses of general control (tax collection, auditing, etc.).

Homer S. Sweisford, Pottstown RD 2, was elected treasurer of the board. He succeeds Raymond Prizer, Pughtown, on July 1.
